'HELPLESS' FIND ELLIS ISLAND IS 'HARD BOILED'

"Why Not Report Us to Senate?" Is Asked.

This, the last of Miss Forbes' articles on the experience of immigrants on the steamers and at Ellis Island, leaves little room to doubt that some of the "100 per cent Americanism" might be applied to Ellis Island martinet. First impressions are lasting, and what can an immigrant think after entering the "Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave" through Ellis Island? Miss Forbes answers that at the end of this article.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.
After my "forcible release" from Ellis Island, I return the next day as an American citizen to see if I can gain protection from the American people.

I learn that, inasmuch as most of the people calling at the island to claim relatives or friends are without influence, money, or position, the "minor" officials treat them much as they treat the immigrants. We go first to the information desk, make inquiry, and receive a pass. We are then shoved into a large "bull-pen" enclosed with a high wire fence and guarded by impatient youths, who seem as about, ignore our questions, and refuse us any accurate information.

Rules, Chiefly Broken Rules.
Rules made legitimately for protection of both the country and the immigrant seem, at every hand, to be violated in a negligent, or willful fashion. Parallel with this laxity in the enforcement of necessary regulations we find cruel, inconsistent operation of the letter of the law in violation of the spirit, when such enforcement is morally, if not legally, wrong.

For instance: There is the case of Mr. C., an American born citizen, a stevedore passenger. With him are his wife from Finland, an American citizen by virtue of her marriage, and her sister Hilda V., a Finnish girl unable to speak English.

Mr. and Mrs. C. leave the boat for New York with the other American. Hilda, quite properly, is detained for Ellis Island. She has with her seven papers, all certified, testifying she is to be claimed by her sister and brother-in-law, definitely designated.

Officials Are "Hard Boiled."
Mrs. C. arrives at the island at 10 o'clock on the morning of the 25th. They wait until 4:30, trying frantically to get information. Denied on every side, alarmed, provoked, they finally have an interview with some of the above the underlings who are particularly herding them from side to side in the pen.

The official informs them curtly that Hilda has been inspected, passed, and shipped out on a railroad to her destination. This in spite of her inability to speak English, in spite of the papers stating she is to be claimed by her sister, in spite of the presumption that the regulation that no immigrant is to be released until claimed rests upon the authority of certain accredited papers.

Mrs. C. is in a state of nervous collapse. Mr. C. is telegraphing all over the state in a vain endeavor to locate Hilda.

Probably Senators Read.
"And when I told the official I had been waiting in the 'pen' since early morning," Mr. C. says, "unable to get any information, his answer was, 'Well, why the devil don't you report us to the United States senate?'"

Conversely, there is the case of 5-year-old Frankie Cross, sent all alone from a nursery in England to his mother in New York City.

The mother, unable to leave her employment, sends her sister to meet Frankie. The aunt has an affidavit and high papers proving her authority to claim the boy upon his release.

All day she stands up in the "pen." At 4 o'clock one of the youths calls out the name, "Frankie Cross." He has been passed. His aunt rushes forward. She is on one side of the iron grating; he is on the other.

"Kindness" Toward Child.
The youngster has been traveling alone for over ten days. He jumps toward her arms. The guard pushes him aside; holds fast to the separating wire to inform her she can't have the child. There is an argument. Papers are produced; entreaties made. It is no use.

Frankie, still alone, is torn away from the iron grating. A guard marches him back to the "S. I." (special inspection) room. The aunt, crying and protesting, is hurried out by another guard and on to the ferry back to New York.

For the case of the Scotch woman, two daughters waited in the "pen" for her day after day, only to be told that her ship, unknown to them, was bundled off onto a train.

At the bridge, the Irish girl who wasn't allowed to wire to her sister from the island and as a result was detained for three days after her official

Rehearsing

No professional chorus girl ever worked harder than the society buds and young matrons who make up the casts of "Nadine" and "Pompador," to be given by the Service club on the evenings of Nov. 2 and 3 at the Aryan crotto, at least so the girls think. Rehearsals are being held every day.

The cast of "Nadine," a two act musical travesty, is as follows:
Nadine..... Zoe Kendall Ames
(Mrs. James C. Ames.)
Mary..... Edna Dixon Walker
(Mrs. Paul Walker.)
Flora..... Florence Fols
(Mrs. Alexander F. Stevens.)
Kitty..... Anna Wrenn
(Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Jr.)
Elizabeth..... Elizabeth Martin
(Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Jr.)
Betty..... Betty Hoyt Swift
(Mrs. T. Philip Swift.)

(Mr. T. Philip Swift.)
Harold..... W. Cooper Lawley
(Mr. T. Philip Swift.)

(Mr. T. Philip Swift.)
William J. Bailey Jr.
(Mr. T. Philip Swift.)

(Mr. T. Philip Swift.)
Francis..... Albert S. Gaudier
(Mr. T. Philip Swift.)
The Cohen..... Charles Benner Jr.
(Mr. T. Philip Swift.)
The Mother..... Marjorie Valentine
(Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Jr.)

Mrs. Harold C. Strota and Miss Dorothy Gnaedinger will dance. About thirty-five of the prettiest young women in society will be in the chorus. Taking part in "Pompador," a miniature grand opera in one act, the libretto of which is founded upon an historical incident, will be Mrs. Ames as "Mme. De Pompadour," Miss Mary Welch as a peasant, Arthur Kraft as "Louis XV," and Mrs. Edwin Martin as "Nanon."

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
SYDNEY, Oct. 25.—Details of the case of an Australian family, which was detained at San Francisco because of the workings of the new American immigration law, have caused a painful impression here.

There is great indignation among business men trading with the United States, who say the continued operation of the law in cases where reputation and substantial citizens are concerned is bound to interfere with commerce between Australia and America, and it also will deter tourists.

A prominent public man pointed out the incongruity of the American invitation to the disarmament conference with the restriction which the United States has put on intercourse between friendly nations.

HORTHY MAY GET CROWN HE KEPT FROM EX-KING

Hungary Prepares to Elect
Monarch.

BULLETIN.
VIENNA, Oct. 25.—(By Associated Press.)—Karlists under Stephan Friederich, former Hungarian premier, today occupied Odenburg, in West Hungary.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]
VIENNA, Oct. 25.—Admiral Nicholas von Horthy, who defeated the attempt of former Emperor Karl to regain the throne, may soon wear the royal robes of Hungary.

Karl, with his queen, Zita, credited throughout Europe with having inspired the daring airplane coup, which ended so disastrously, is a prisoner in the ancient abbey of the Benedictines at Thany on Platten lake. British gunboats on the Danube are reported to be ready to take the former emperor and press aboard and speed them to exile, as soon as the allied supreme council decides where they must go.

A dispatch from Budapest tonight says Admiral von Horthy will convoke the assembly within a few days. The details were obtained from Budapest. Karl, himself, facing prison or exile, tried to kill himself, soon after his arrest, one report stated. His queen, Zita, rushed at him and tore the revolver from his hands.

Mal Oesterberg, leader of the royalist troops, who greeted the former emperor and empress when they dropped out of the air into Odenburg last Friday, and led the army on its march to Budapest, committed suicide as his defeated troops fled or surrendered. Four hundred of his men had been killed and 1,000 injured in the fighting, according to one of Karl's lieutenants.

Count Andrássy, Deputy Rakowsky, Prince Windisch-Graetz, and the other Karlist deputies are in the Budapest prison. They face banishment for long prison terms, or possibly death.

Budapest continues calm. Tired of war and strife, the population refused to be stirred to any enthusiasm for the once popular Karl.

MAY BE EXILED TO LONDON
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]
PARIS, Oct. 25.—Former Emperor Karl, whose second attempt to regain the throne of Hungary has ended disastrously, may be interned in England.

The British government has offered London as the most likely place for the incarceration of the former emperor, because he will not be liable to be transported from there to Hungary again by airplane. London is regarded as an ideal spot by diplomatic circles, as the former emperor could be continually under the surveillance of Scotland Yard, yet he would not be treated as a prisoner.

The allied supreme council will select a place of exile for Karl and former Empress Zita.

Europe Feels Relieved.
The little entente is reported to favor the island of Majorca, one of the Balearic islands off the coast of Spain in the Mediterranean, but objections are made that the former emperor could fly from the island to Hungary unless he was confined as an actual prisoner.

Europe is breathing easier following the solution of the Hapsburg problem, which for a time seriously menaced the peace of the continent and threatened to prevent Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Briand from participating in the Washington conference.

Swiss Welcome Worn Out.
GENEVA, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Former Emperor Karl and ex-Empress Zita have worn out their welcome in Switzerland.

"Never will they be permitted to return to this country," declared President Schulthess to the Associated Press today.

The attempt of the guardian to bring Mrs. Percy A. Rockefeller and Mrs. William Rockefeller, sisters of "Fitz" husband, and other heirs into the case as co-defendants was based on the contention that they were "interested parties," because, if Guy were denied the appeal of the infant's guardian to bring in all the Stillman heirs as co-defendants.

Through John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie, guardian for Guy, an application was made last Friday to Justice Morehouse for an order to involve all heirs of the late James A. Stillman interested in trust funds aggregating $37,000,000.

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Baby Guy Stillman, over whose legitimacy the legal battle is being waged by James A. Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morehouse denied the appeal of the infant's guardian to bring in all the Stillman heirs as co-defendants.

BEAUTY, ADMIRER

EDWARD, TOWED

New York, Oct. 25.—(United News.)—Mrs. Birdie Pollock-Graham, the "beautiful blue grass girl," once a boarding house waitress in Philadelphia, later a member of the most fashionable London society, and admired by the late King Edward, is reported here to be engaged to James J. Van Alen, millionaire New York and London clubman, formerly an American, now 72 years old, whose first wife was a daughter of the late William Astor.

Mr. Van Alen quit the United States on account of the dry amendment. Mrs. Pollock-Graham's daughter, Geraldine, 18 years old, was called by the prince of Wales, grandson of the man who admired her mother's beauty, "the most beautiful girl in America."

This tribute to Miss Graham's charms was paid during the visit of the prince to America nearly two years ago. Miss Graham was engaged to marry Whitney Warren, member of a noted and wealthy New York family, but the engagement was broken last spring.

An award of $7,000 was granted to Cassius M. Smiley and his wife of Indianapolis by a jury in the court of United States District Judge George T. It was alleged in the bill that Joseph Brock, a house detective for the hotel, caused the plaintiffs a great deal of embarrassment and physical discomfort by breaking into a room occupied by them one evening.

Another crowd assembled about the presidential car at Danville, Va., and the President and Mrs. Harding alighted to the station platform to shake hands all round. At Calverton, Va., they chatted several minutes with a group of overalled railroad employees who greeted them when the train stopped in the yards.

During the day's ride Mr. Harding also cleared away some correspondence and talked with Secretary Weeks, Senator Underwood and Representative Almond of Alabama about the problem of the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant. The war secretary is to make a tour of inspection to the plant after the President leaves Atlanta, Ga., Thursday night to return to Washington.

The Presidential train, which left Washington at nine a. m., is to reach Birmingham at 8:45 a. m., tomorrow. Mr. Harding will spend the entire day there. He will be back in Washington again Friday morning.

PRESIDENT GETS WARM WELCOME FROM DIXIELAND

Surprised and Pleased at South's Industry.

On Board President Harding's Special Train, Oct. 25.—On his way to Alabama, to speak tomorrow at the Birmingham semi-centennial. President Harding today got his first real picture of the south since he became chief executive.

Most of the day, as his train traveled southward from Washington, the President watched from the window of his car the passing panorama of agricultural and industrial development and made many comments on the accomplishments and needs of the southern states. At several places southern products, including fruits and specially cured tobaccos, were presented to him as an earnest of the section's hospitality.

Some of the larger cities turned out crowds to greet the presidential train, and wherever stops were made both the President and Mrs. Harding shook hands with as many as could get near them.

Train Makes Few Stops.
The run was made on a fast schedule, however, and the train slipped through most of the towns along the way without attracting unusual attention.

At Charlottesville, Va., a group of students from the University of Virginia serenaded the President with college yells, and he presented to them three of his guests aboard the train—Secretary Weeks of the war department, Secretary Fall of the interior, and Senator Underwood of Alabama.

Democratic leader of the senate, Mr. Underwood, a graduate of the university, made a brief speech from the rear platform, praising Mr. Harding as "the greatest man in America."

There were several thousand people waiting to cheer the President at Charlotte, N. C., and he rewarded them with a short talk expressing appreciation of the welcome accorded him by the south.

Shake Hands With Greeters.

FIND $165,000 DISCREPANCY IN CO-OP PURCHASE

Receiver Seeks Real Cost of Subsidiary.

Julius Moses, who, as attorney for the Central Trust company, receiver, is conducting the investigation into the affairs of the Cooperative Society of America, yesterday began a sweeping inquiry into subsidiary companies of the organization when he called C. W. Gillette, head of the Wisconsin Pea Cannery association. It is possible that the records of more than a score of companies will be examined before the inquiry is completed.

Mr. Gillette was asked to explain a discrepancy of approximately $200,000 in connection with the sale of the cannery's association to the cooperative society. He testified that he had sold the association to Harrison Parker, head of the society, for $255,000. Of this amount he got, in various installments, $448,000, he said.

Discrepancy of $165,000. The books of the cooperative society, however, show that $613,891.54 has been paid on account. Mr. Gillette says he didn't get the money and the receiver is anxious to know where it went.

The possibility that Mrs. Edith S. Parker, wife of Harrison Parker, may appear at the hearing when it is resumed tomorrow morning was foreshadowed yesterday by the appearance of Attorney Richard H. Folsom at the inquiry. Mr. Folsom is a law partner of former United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis, attorney for Mrs. Parker.

Promised at "Proper Time." Attorneys for the society have stated that Mrs. Parker will appear at the proper time, and the presence of Mr. Folsom was taken to mean that the missing witness, who, it is believed, can explain the whereabouts of several million dollars worth of Liberty bonds and other securities, will appear to testify.

In an effort to cut down expenses the receiver yesterday discharged a number of employees of the wholesale department of the society, including C. A. Maher, the $200 a week general manager, but after a long conference between attorneys the matter was compromised and the employees went back to work.

DOUGHNUTS

"Won't you buy a doughnut? Please buy a doughnut." That will be the cry of many pretty girls next Friday and Saturday throughout Chicago.

It will be doughnut day. The Salvation Army in its drive for $400,000 to carry on its work has obtained the aid of the All American society, an organization composed of girls representing all nations. The girls, all pretty, will be dressed in their native costumes and sell doughnuts to help raise the required amount to make the Salvation Army's drive a success. They will be stationed throughout the loop early and late on both days.

There will be no specified price. Pay as much as you like, eat them until it hurts.

VICTORY SHIP SAILS FOR HOME WITH "UNKNOWN"

BY DAVID DARRAGH.

HAVRE, Oct. 25.—Admiral Dewey's flagship at Manila bay—the cruiser Olympia—today sailed into the sunset from this port, its flag at half mast, bearing westward the remains of America's "unknown soldier." The salute of kings—101 guns—fired from three French destroyers boomed a mournful farewell to the funeral ship. Business was suspended in Havre this afternoon, and when the funeral train arrived the entire city lined the streets to view the funeral cortege from the station to the dock. School children threw flowers on the coffin, which was borne on a gun carriage. The gun carriage was followed by Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, Pension Minister Maginot of France, and other high French officials, while the cathedral bells chimed solemnly. Silent women in mourning shed tears as the coffin passed.

The funeral cortege stopped beside the Olympia, where six stalwart doughboys stood beside Minister Maginot as he pinned on the Stars and Stripes draping the coffin the French legion of honor.

Trains to Be Held When Bridges Delay Travelers

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The Irish conference has survived another day and tonight the situation is better. The full meeting of the conference arranged for today was postponed and instead the committee of four selected at yesterday's meeting spent two hours at No. 10 Downing street. The committee consisted of Prime Minister Lloyd George and J. Austen Chamberlain for the British and Arthur Griffiths and Michael Collins for the Irish. It was also very significant that the subject under discussion was Ulster.

VENIZELOS TO ARRIVE TODAY FOR VISIT HERE

Nearly 1,000 Chicago Greeks attended a mass meeting in Hull house last night to prepare for the reception to-day of Eleutherios Venizelos, former Greek premier, and his wife, who are coming to Chicago for a two day visit. Venizelos, aid of the allied diplomats at the peace conference and an enthusiastic supporter of American democracy, will arrive at the La Salle street station at 9:30 o'clock this morning, according to a message received by Nick Demopoulos, owner of the Chicago Greek Daily. The statesman will be met at the station by thousands of his countrymen.

Architect vs. Weaver

Architects and weavers of fine rugs seldom entertain the same notions as to what size the floors of a home should be. This is true particularly of the most important room: the living room.

To minimize this difference of opinion we carry one of the most varied collections of large sized rugs in the country.

The finest weaves, most select patterns, and pleasant color combinations are to be found in this collection.

INDIA IN PER LORDS DEB DESPITE CU

Sydenham Says U Beyond Cont

BY PEABODY SV

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]
LONDON, Oct. 25.—In a statement of Great Britain's position on the Indian question, Lord Sydenham, a member of the Indian Council, spoke today, declaring that the British government's authority in India was not being challenged, and at this moment was past all question. A lengthy debate on the Indian question, which is to be by the fact that the Moplahs, though local in character, are a serious menace to the peace and prosperity of the country, was held in the House of Commons today. Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, declared that the British government was not prepared to discuss the subject and had requested its position.

Attack by Sydenham. Lord Sydenham, who opposed the statement, said there had been "a great deal of talk" about the Indian question, which he said was a "disastrous" situation for the British government. He said that the British government was not prepared to discuss the subject and had requested its position.

Tampers with Arms. Lord Sydenham said the British government was being tampered with by the smaller states. He said that the British government was not prepared to discuss the subject and had requested its position.

Some of the smaller states have been the scene of organized violence, and the almost complete breakdown of law and order in the Punjab and the province of Lahore had produced a race hatred never seen before.

"Our first duty in India," Lord Sydenham said, "is to maintain the security of the empire. We must do that at all costs. We must not be swayed by the passions of the moment. We must not be swayed by the passions of the moment. We must not be swayed by the passions of the moment."

Statement by Curzon. Lord Curzon, replying, said that he had requested the House to debate the Indian question. He said that the British government was not prepared to discuss the subject and had requested its position.

INDIA IN PERIL; LORDS DEBATE DESPITE CURZON

Sydenham Says Unrest Is Beyond Control.

BY PEABODY SWIFT.

[Chicago Tribune Special Service.]
[Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.]
LONDON, Oct. 25.—In a strong, independent, and somewhat unorthodox manner, Lord Sydenham, a former governor of Bombay, spoke in the house of lords today, declaring the government's authority momentary and weak, and at this time the most serious emergency was past all control.

A lengthy debate on the pressing India problem, which is today agitated by the fact that the Moplah uprising, through local in character, is still uncontrolled, followed, despite the fact that Lord Curzon, the foreign minister and leader of the house of lords, protested it was undesirable to have discussion on this subject at present and had requested its postponement.

Attack by Sydenham.
Lord Sydenham, who opened the debate, said there had been "a long series of blunders, mistakes, dissensions, and concessions which had tended toward the creation of a disastrous and artificial atmosphere for the India policy and was weakening our authority."
Lord Sydenham said political strikes were frequent in all the great industrial centers; intimidations were going on, and Great Britain's failure to maintain order was having the most serious consequences. He said that English prestige unquestionably was suffering and that recruiting for the medical and police services was becoming more and more difficult.

Tamper with Army.
Lord Sydenham said the Indian army was being tampered with by agitators. Some of the smaller states already had been the scene of organized riots, he said, and the almost bolshevistic municipal council of Lahore had ordered the execution of the fire brigade, who was a British officer, to wear the uniform of the agitator Ghandi. Neglect and nonenforcement of the law had produced a race hatred to an extent never seen before.

Our first duty in India. Lord Sydenham said, "is to maintain law and the security of justice. If we fail to do that our only justification for remaining in India is gone. Authority must be reasserted for the sake of the simple, easy, and misguided people who are being used as pawns by those who really are revolutionaries."

Statement by Curzon.
Lord Curzon, replying, pointed out that he had requested postponement of debate due to the fact that the government was in almost hourly communication with India, and any definite pronouncement by the government would be premature and impossible, and also any discussion of the question would be unwise and inopportune. He also pointed out that the Prince of Wales sails tomorrow. Lord Curzon said he did not propose to discuss how far Lord Sydenham's remarks were true, but his statements were not altogether in accord with the information he had on the subject.

The Marquis of Salisbury said: "I am afraid we cannot take the whole marquis' view. We think the position of things in India is so grave that discussion in parliament now might take place."

Revolt Costs 2,000 Lives.

NEW BOARD OF TRADE

This $6,000,000 structure has been voted by the Board of Trade to replace the present structure, which has been declared unfit for much further use.

Madras, said the Moplah rebellion already had cost 2,000 lives, and he advocated the arrest of Ghandi.

Viscount Chelmsford, who up to six months ago, was the viceroy of India, was the next to speak.

"It is not an Indian issue," he said, "but a world-wide issue. A revolt of the colored races is going on all over the world against the ascendancy of the white races. Formerly we governed India on the superiority of the British race. That superiority is now challenged, and we cannot evade the challenge."

He also minimized the effects of Ghandism and attributed the unrest to the high prices and economic condition, which he said would improve with the good crops of this season. He emphasized the gravity of the Moplah revolt.

Earl Lytton, undersecretary for India, protested against the pictures painted of India as seething with rebellion and sedition under a weak and timid government.

Farewell, Old Pit

A NEW building at La Salle and Jackson streets overlooking La Salle street, the Wall street of the west, is to be erected by the Board of Trade at a cost of $6,000,000. This decision was made at a meeting of the officials of that association yesterday.

Plans prepared by Holabird & Roche are for a twenty-one story structure with an exchange hall containing 1,973 square feet. The lot is 174x240 feet. The present building was erected in 1883 and 1884 and is in such bad condition that it is costing many thousands of dollars annually to keep it in usable shape.

President Joseph P. Griffin said: "We will go ahead with the project, although the building committee have recently decided that it was not wise to proceed at present."

TATTOO REPLICA OF "IRON CROSS" CLEW TO MURDER

New York, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Elizabeth Richard of Jersey City today identified the legless body of a woman found Saturday in a pool in Long Island City as that of Bertha Baker, or Becker, who lived with her two years ago. A design of the German iron cross and the initials "B. B." had been tattooed on her right leg above the knee, Mrs. Richard told the police, and she thought this might have been the reason why the legs had been severed.

Mrs. Richard said the girl had come to America from Cologne, Germany. She appeared at her home in company with her husband and baby and asked for lodging, Mrs. Richard said. The man was a boatman.

ERBSTEIN, NOT MADELYNN, IS CENTER OF FIGHT

Chicagoan Not Allowed to See Client.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 25.—Charles E. Erbstein, Chicago attorney, who arrived yesterday to join the counsel of Mrs. Madelynn Obenchain, indicted with Arthur C. Burch for the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, and who was denounced in open court by Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney, was denied today "all special attorney's privileges" at the Los Angeles county jail while attempting to visit his client.

Eugene Biscailuz, undersheriff, announced that as Mr. Erbstein was not a member of the Los Angeles bar and as Judge Sidney N. Reeve, following Woolwine's charge that Erbstein was "a person wholly unfit to practice law at this bar," had referred the matter to the Los Angeles Bar association, the Chicago attorney's pass to the jail, obtained yesterday, would be revoked.

LAWYER UPHELD HERE.

Telegrams expressing confidence in the honesty and integrity of Attorney Charles Erbstein were sent yesterday to the bar association in Los Angeles by many Chicago lawyers and judges. The following telegram was sent by Chief Justice David M. Brothers of the Circuit court:

"Pursuant to message regarding the character of Charles E. Erbstein, he is a member in good standing of the Chicago Bar association. In the last seven years he has tried many cases, both civil and criminal, before me, and I always have found him to be a gentleman and ethical in his conduct."

"He is a man of character and ability. I would take his word, in or out of court, in preference to some of his maligars. I trust you will show him the same courtesy you would expect from the Chicago bar under similar circumstances. I believe him worthy of your accommodation."

Hoynes Declines to Talk.
Macley Hoynes, former state's attorney, refused to answer a question asking if he gave the statement attributed to him by Woolwine, that "Erbstein's reputation is of the very worst, being that of a trickster, a jury fixer, and suborning of perjury."

"I am through with politics and quarrels. I have nothing to say and I wish to be let alone."

VOTE IN SENATE ASSURES REPEAL OF 'PROFITS TAX'

Democrats Lose Fight to Retain It.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Test votes in the senate tonight assured the repeal of the excess profits tax.

An amendment by Senator Reed of Missouri, Democrat, adding the words "and each year thereafter" after a clause in the pending bill providing for the continuance of the excess profits tax on income of the calendar year 1921 met defeat by 39 to 27.

The Democrats voted solidly for the retention of the excess profits tax. Four Republicans, Senators Borah of Idaho, Kenyon of Iowa, La Follette of Wisconsin and Norbeck of South Dakota lined up with them.

Reed Makes Another Effort.

Following the defeat of this amendment, Senator Reed offered another providing for the retention of the excess profits tax at reduced rates.

Under this amendment, the first bracket of the excess profits tax providing for a tax of 20 per cent would not apply, except on corporations with earnings of more than 15 per cent instead of above 8 per cent as at present. The second bracket providing for a tax of 40 per cent would apply on the excess above earnings of 50 per cent instead of on the excess above earnings of 40 per cent as at present.

The senate held its first night session tonight in an effort to expedite action. Whether the plan for continuous all day and all night sessions beginning tomorrow will be carried out was uncertain tonight. A movement was on foot for a unanimous consent agreement for the limitation of debate which will make the proposed all night sessions unnecessary.

Action on the second Reed amendment was deferred until tomorrow, after an agreement was reached to end debate on the excess profits section and all amendments thereto at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The senate adjourned at 8 o'clock.

Hitchcock Defends Tax.

"The excess profits tax has been criticized as being injurious to enterprise," said Senator Hitchcock. "I don't think it is. I can't see how a tax on excess profits can be injurious to business."

The excess profits taxes leave to the corporation in all cases a rate of profit above the normal. I cannot conceive why a corporation, making a profit above the normal, should object to paying taxes on these profits.

"The excess profits tax does not apply unless the profits are in excess of 8 per cent. The normal tax of 10 per cent applies on profits under 8 per cent. The graduated excess profits tax applies on profits in excess of 8 per cent."

"To my mind the people of the United States will resent the action of congress in relieving from taxation corporations admittedly making excess profits."

ATTORNEYS SEE FLAWS IN STATE ANTI-BEER LAW

rides a state law," said Baer. "I believe the state law could be successfully attacked as to its constitutionality. A strong point is the discrimination in favor of whiskey and against beer and wine."

F. Scott McBride, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Illinois, points to section 8 of the state law. "It shall be unlawful to prescribe wine, beer, or any alcoholic malt liquor," and says: "This is definite enough."

He also warns physicians and druggists that for violation of this law, in addition to a fine or imprisonment, they may be deprived of the privilege of prescribing whiskey.

With the lawyers in the main agreeing that Illinois will have beer on prescription, and disregarding the opinions of officials and opponents, doctors and druggists who expect to avail themselves of the Mellon ruling are not certain of the procedure.

It is not yet known if the government will issue limited beer prescription books, as is the case with whiskey, or if an ordinary prescription will suffice. The breweries are said to be ready to furnish a good grade of 4 to 5 per cent beer whenever the druggists order it. The supply will be ample, they say, for the demand.

RUSH ANTI-BEER LAW

Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Dry leaders announced today that they would renew their attempt to pass the Campbell-Willis anti-beer bill immediately upon the passage of the pending tax bill.

This means that the fight to ban medicinal beer will begin all over again, probably next week. In view of the action of the treasury department in issuing the beer regulations yesterday, permitting physicians to prescribe beer and wine as medicine, the controversy undoubtedly will be waged with greater fury than ever and may seriously block the entire legislative program.

Wet senators, since the treasury department issued the regulations, are more determined than ever to continue their filibuster. They feel confident they will be able to maintain their fight against the Campbell-Willis bill until administration leaders will again be compelled to lay it aside to facilitate passage of more important legislation.

In only a few states, according to Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, will it be practicable to prescribe beer as a medicine under the government regulations, and Illinois is not among them.

"The brewers have several hurdles

yet to make," said Wheeler, "before medicinal beer is a reality. Most of the state laws prohibit it. Others have limitations as to quantities and other wise. For instance, Minnesota allows only one pint in ten days; Michigan, only eight ounces of liquor. The only states where it will be practicable to prescribe beer are California, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, and in the nonprohibited sections under the state law in Louisiana and Maryland.

Entire Stewart Estate to Bride of 19

An $8,000,000 shower of gold into the hands of Mrs. Margaret Honeymay when she reached the age of 21, to do with just as she pleased. She is 19 years old and a bride.

The fact that the entire fortune of her father, the late James Stewart, was left to her, the late James Stewart, who died at the Webster hotel, was probate. Jean's $1,000,000 was left to Mrs. Honeymay, and the husband, Robert B. Honeymay, made administrator.

Nine months after his death, the widow died, leaving the two in the care of Mr. Stewart's guardian, Leander H. La Chance.

It was then the Stewart fortune was to be divided. First a New York office of the speedometer company discovered some $1,000,000 in Chicago banks calling for $1,000,000.

GOLD GIRL' GETS ANOTHER MILLION ADDED TO LEGACY

Entire Stewart Estate Goes to Bride of 19.

An $8,000,000 shower of gold will fall into the hands of Mrs. Marian Stewart Honeyman when she reaches the age of 21, to do with just as she pleases. She is 19 years old and a bride of six months.

The fact that the entire fortune left by her father, the late James K. Stewart, head of the Stewart-Warner Speedometer corporation, would be hers became known yesterday when the inventory of the estate of her 10 year old son, Jean Stewart, who died a week ago at the Webster hotel, was filed for probate. Jean's $1,000,000 estate was left to Mrs. Honeyman, and the latter's husband, Robert B. Honeyman Jr., was made administrator.

Poverty to Riches.
Mr. Stewart progressed in the latter years of his life from a poor inventor to a man of so many millions he didn't know what to do. It was his speedometer that did the trick.

At his death, in June, 1918, his fortune was estimated at $5,000,000. Of this amount $3,000,000 was in cash and the balance was in shares of stock in the speedometer company.

Nine months after his death his widow died, leaving the two children in the care of Mr. Stewart's nephew, Laurence H. La Chance, as their guardian.

It was then the Stewart fortune began to mount. First a clerk in the New York office of the Speedometer company discovered some deposit slips in Chicago banks calling for $1,900,000.

$8,000,000

Mrs. Marian Stewart Honeyman.

Then, in July, 1917, Mr. La Chance received a bill for $7.50 for the rent of a safety deposit box. In the box he found a quarter of a million dollars.

A Fortune in a Valise.
A short time before her death Mrs. Stewart brought a suitcase containing $600,000 in currency and bonds from Aiken, S. C. She took a stateroom and carried the fortune with her as one would a valise full of clothes.

Since then the income from the estate has brought the total to more than $8,000,000.

Last February, while Marian was living in the Stewart home in New York, she met Robert B. Honeyman Jr. He was the brother of one of her closest friends. On April 11 they were married at St. Thomas' church on 5th avenue.

OPEN 2 QUIZZES INTO FREEING OF "NAILS" MORTON

Judge Scanlan Hears Witnesses at Trial.

Two investigations were opened yesterday into the case of Hersche Miller and Samuel "Nails" Morton, who were found not guilty of the murder of Detective Sergeant James Mulcahy by a jury before Judge John R. Caverly in the Criminal court last week. Judge Kickham Scanlan, chief justice of the Criminal court, opened one. The other was started by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe.

Announcement of the inquiries was made after a conference between Judge Scanlan, Judge Caverly, and Mr. Crowe.

Late yesterday afternoon private investigators held a lengthy conference with Judge Scanlan. Some of the persons who testified for the state at the trial of the two men were taken into the judge's chambers.

Grand Jury to Get Case.

Judge Scanlan refused to state what had transpired at the conference, but said that "certain evidence presented to him" would probably result in his "laying the matter before the grand jury."

State's Attorney Crowe stated that he was going to have a thorough investigation made of the trial. Within thirty days, he said, the two defendants will be placed on trial for the murder of Detective Sergeant William Hennessey, who was killed at the same time his partner, Mulcahy, was shot to death.

"I am going to assign the best prosecutor in the office to this case," said Mr. Crowe. "I have not gone into the matter thoroughly yet, but I will tomorrow and you may rest assured that this office will make every effort to convict the men."

Two Killed in Cafe.

Hennessey and Mulcahy were shot to death in a gun battle that took place in the Pekin-Beaux Arts cafe, 2700 South State street, on August 23, 1920. Miller and Morton were arrested soon after the crime. Morton denied that he had a gun, but Miller admitted that he shot several times.

The reason for the continued good health of some children is simple enough

Especially when you know the facts, some of which are given here

EVERY mother is proud of a healthy, strong youngster that radiates buoyant life and energy. She has reason to be proud, because the child's good health proves her wisdom in the selection of the food she gives her boy or girl.

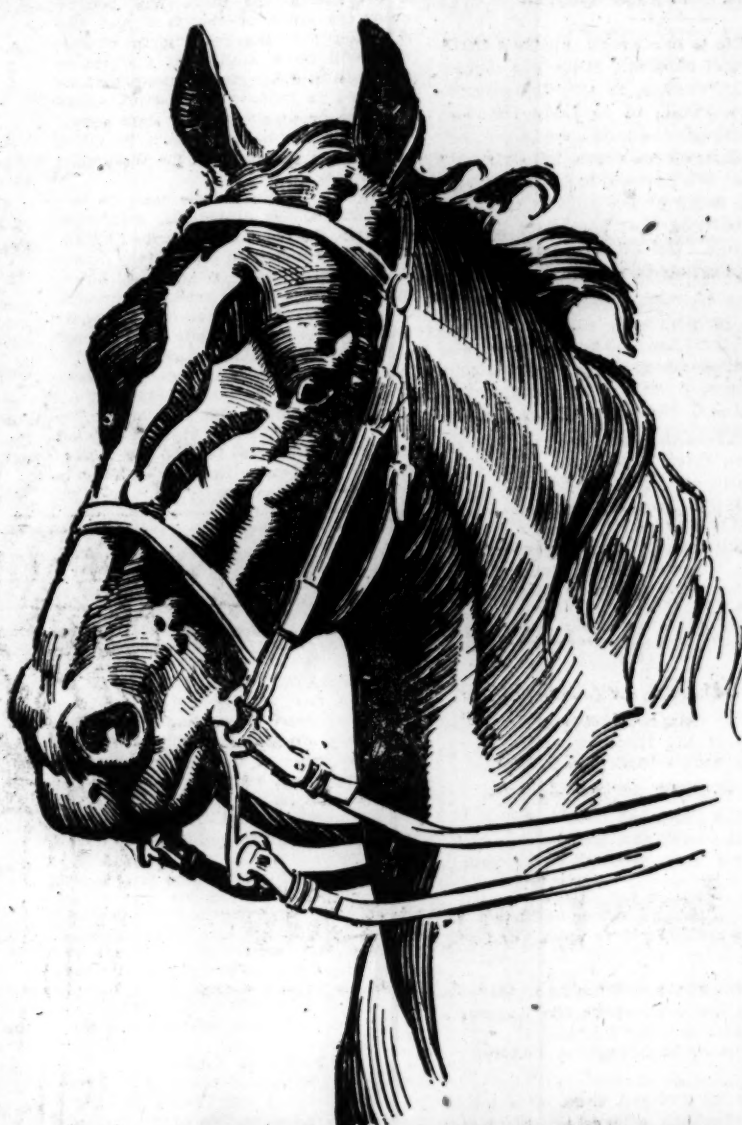

All mothers should know that growing children require a balanced diet, a diet containing the food elements needed for building and energizing the little body.

Grape-Nuts, the rich, nourishing food made from whole wheat flour and malted barley, served with milk or cream, contains the materials the child needs for its best growth and development.

Grape-Nuts helps make sound teeth, strong nerves and pure red blood, and for the palate there is nothing more wholesome or delicious.

Go to your grocer today and get a package of strength-giving Grape-Nuts. Let the children have all they want, with milk, cream or stewed fruit, or made into an appetizing pudding. Grape-Nuts is a food that will be relished by every member of the family.

Each Is Called a HORSE

BUT one is a thoroughbred. His restless, dancing feet—the fire in his eye—the poise of his proud head—every move he makes shows what he is. Instinctively you know it.

Just as the "class" of a fine horse makes instant appeal to your sight, REAL music appeals to your hearing. You know it at once. Music that brings memories and tears—heart-throbs and gladness. Music that speaks straight to your heart in a universal language.

You can be sure of getting this kind of music only through side-by-side test. It won't do to listen to one phonograph in one place, and another phonograph in another place. You must hear them both in the same room.

Don't Buy Any Phonograph Until You Hear
The NEW EDISON
Side by Side With Others in the Same Room

Of course you want a phonograph that will bring REAL music into your home. There is only one, the New Edison. And the way to be sure of it is to hear the Edison in the same room with others. Mr. Edison has provided this test for you. He has arranged that you may hear the New Edison and other phonographs played side by side, in the same room either here at the Edison Shop or in your own home.

Come to the Edison Shop and make this positive test. Or, if you prefer, we will send an Edison to your home. Ask other dealers to extend you the same courtesy. Then make the test yourself, playing the two instruments, first one, then the other, side by side in the same room. Don't buy until you make this test.

SAY WE TO THE JAPANESE.

One reason we are in trouble with Japan is our possession of the Philippines. Another reason is their colonization of Hawaii and their entry into California and other Pacific coast states. They think we are potentially dangerous to them in the Philippines. We think they are potentially dangerous to us at least in Hawaii. The contact of the two peoples at these points is not friendly.

In Hawaii the Japanese are in the way of gaining political control. In California their presence irritates Americans and Americans in turn make trouble by offending the Japanese. Pride of race enters and both peoples become indignant and belligerent.

If Japan chooses to remove America from Asia by taking the Philippines in war, just as she drove out the Russians and the Germans, it is inevitable that Americans must clean up the situation by deporting the Japanese who are on American territory.

If the two nations cannot live in the contact which they now are trying to maintain peacefully, then the connection must be broken in America and Hawaii as well as in Asia. If peace can follow only a settlement by force it should be a clean settlement and avoid further provocations such as now are being extended.

War would require the concentration of all Japanese resident in American territory, all by race, not by birth, and peace would require their deportation. It could be done humanely and without mistreatment of the people thus disposed of. They would be given back to Japan and no Japanese permitted afterwards to become residents of the United States.

This policy can be discussed now without discourtesy because it reveals that an act of aggression by Japan against the United States would make necessary an act of retaliation which would remove a cause of friction. Such a policy now understood by Japan might be a deterrent. Deterrents are needed.

FOOTBALL CHAMPIONS.

Chicago university defeated Princeton at football, many people hereabouts in the corn states are delighted, and Mr. Stagg and his players are entitled to all the praise they get. Princeton, Yale, and Harvard have played football so much longer than the other schools of the country that tradition has worked to give them the high caste of the game, and it is no longer theirs.

Since the time when these colleges played virtually all the first grade football, which, in fact, was long ago, the game has become a national collegiate game and not a sectional one. The west knows good football, and so does the Pacific coast and also the south. California proved that to the corn states last winter; Chicago's has proved it to the east this fall.

The game is awkwardly organized for championships. Even the east cannot establish a regional championship except by paper work. It generally can be determined whether Harvard, Yale, or Princeton has the best team in that old rivalry, but without determining whether that team is better than Penn State, Pittsburgh, or some other strong team developed by another college.

In this section the western conference gives a clear title within its scope, but that sometimes leaves Notre Dame out of consideration and this year may have Oberlin out of consideration, that school having already taken the measure of Ohio State.

Probably championships are unnecessary, but they are interesting. Sectional challenges and contests are good for sport, but they ought to come after the sections have developed their actual or probable champions. It would have been more to the point if the winner of the western conference played the winner of the Princeton-Yale-Harvard trio—just as the winner of the conference played the class of the Pacific coast last season.

THE KARLIST FIASCO.

The Karlist attempt in Hungary has had even shorter shrift than the short-lived coup in Berlin. The climate in Europe just now is not good for Hohenzollerns or Hapsburgs. Karl, at any rate, is not the man to rejuvenate monarchism, even in Hungary. He represents a damaged name, a declining institution, and probably a depleted physical and moral constitution. It is said his wife is author of his ambitions and that would not be fatal. Men's fortunes have been made by their wives as well as married, and Zita in happier circumstances might have been a Maria Theresa.

The attempt has cost some lives. Some gallant men have died for the ideas represented by Karl and some of those represented by the regency. But that is a small item in the tremendous account of European affairs. The attempt was bound to come and the threat of it was worse than the event. Republicanism in Hungary and in Europe is fortified by its easy victory at the gates of Budapest, and the prestige of Karlism, whatever it was before, is broken back by an inglorious field.

The Stuart family made some trouble for England and even the sorry figure of the Young Pretender was a party rallying point for a generation of British patriots.

But the political psychology of Europe has swept far into the domain of democracy since the day of Bonnie Prince Charlie. Doubtless the monarchial idea has some vitality still, but it must be embodied in a prince of greater personal strength of will and better brain than any of the demented dynasties are now likely to produce. A parvenu like Napoleon might revive it for a time, if conditions conspired to aid him as they aided Bonaparte. Lenin has wielded the power of a great autocrat with such aid. But he masked his power in a magic of new hopes. The medieval pageantry of kingship has lost its magic for modern men.

This is so obvious that it would be foolish to make a martyr of Karl. The much more dangerous case of Wilhelm has been wisely handled. An emperor saving wood is a reductio ad absurdum, but an emperor on the scaffold might lend a last glamour to the crown. If they give Karl a buckaw or a hoe, monarchism in Hungary will not survive the indignity.

There is a whole sermon on sport and sportsmanship in James Connolly's stories of the victory of the Nova Scotia fishing schooner Bluenose over the Gloucester fisherman Elsie, off Halifax. It is no tale of a sport of kings, or the clash of professional sportsmen, or the engagement of a professional leisure class calling themselves amateurs, but a battle of rugged, courageous, efficient men, contending with the tools of their trade and the means of their livelihood.

Such contests as are run off by these fishermen, whose work is as arduous and dangerous as almost any known, differentiate between work and labor, and surround the former with a romance and glamour which almost succeed in making it play and upsetting the rule that work is the law of life. It makes their work enjoyable, and it also makes better fishermen. So in the old days drilling contests were the chief sporting events of Fourth of July celebrations in western mining towns. Even yet roping and bronco busting are the popular sports of the cowboys. Such contests not only apply life to sport but sport to life. The race of the fishermen, fought out with all the skill and daring of the best manhood of the two communities, thus becomes an inspiration. It not only reaches the height of true sportsmanship but translates such sportsmanship into the daily life of those who engage in it.

That is the highest possible value of sport and sportsmanship—the development of a spirit of fair play, loyalty, gameness, and clean living along with sound bodies and clear minds. Tennis, golf, football, and baseball may do the same thing, although they are games in the strictest sense. It is more difficult, though by no means impossible, to translate the lessons learned in such contests into our workaday life. The deep sea fishermen simply apply their workaday practices to their sport and reap the full value of sportsmanship.

Of course, it is impossible for any appreciable number of us to engage in blue water racing, but it is not impossible for us to read and be thrilled by the stories of those who do, and to get out of such tales some of the good that the contestants get. In that way the value of the races is free to the world. Every man can profit from the principles revealed—in his inner consciousness if not in pocket. We might eventually even make life a little more sporting, and not quite so cold and hard as an utter absence of sportsmanship in ordinary relations makes it for many persons.

ABOLISHING OUR NAVAL RESERVE.

The reduction of the regular personnel of the army and navy which a passion for economy and the undying optimism of congress have brought about is justified on the theory that we depend for defense upon "a citizenry trained and accustomed to arms," as Mr. Wilson put it.

It is interesting to compare this comfortable theory with our practice. For example, there is the recent order of the navy department to discontinue all members of the naval reserve force except classes 1 and 6.

This means that the naval reserve, so far as it is a paid civilian force, goes out of existence. Class 1 consists of ex-regulans, about 5,000 in number, and is not affected. Class 2, civilians qualified for duty on combatant ships, who under the law were paid the equivalent of two months' pay if they qualified by taking a prescribed course of training, are invited to enroll in the volunteer reserve, same pay. Class 3, aviation, and class 4, merchant marine, also go by the board.

This order is not the navy department's responsibility. It is compelled by the refusal of congress to appropriate a sum adequate for the payment of these classes.

The gist of the situation is this: Congress, while adopting the theory that our defense shall consist of a citizenry trained and accustomed to arms, proposes to rely upon a sufficient number of the citizenry making personal sacrifice to fit themselves for military or naval efficiency, while the rest of the citizenry do nothing.

That is an old story, but the expectation has never been fulfilled. Even before the latest demonstration of its failure in the great war, the weakness of this policy was sufficiently realized to bring about a proposal for compensating the national guardmen for their services. The justice and expediency of compensation for men who are taking upon themselves a duty belonging to all was beginning to be recognized, and a bill to provide for it had good prospects of passage. But now it seems, in spite of fresh experience and the disturbed condition of the world, congress has turned its back on common sense and common justice and refused to provide for a naval reserve moderately paid.

There ought to be a national protest against this dangerous folly. If we are to have a citizenry prepared for defense, which is the only alternative to a large professional force, and if we are to survive as a nation, we must establish universal compulsory training, discriminating in favor of no man, rich or poor, then we must realize that to have an adequate reserve we must provide some moderate compensation as a material inducement. There will always be some young men, sufficiently patriotic and sufficiently inclined to military affairs, to make the sacrifice required of the volunteer. We honor these young men, but we know there are not enough of them and never will be to provide for our defense needs. This is the fact, and congress endangers the safety of the nation when it ignores it.

ART UNIVERSALLY APPLICABLE.

[The Pittsburgh Sun.]

Homer St. Gaudens, assistant director of Carnegie Institute, evoked appreciation of the fundamental purpose of art in his address to teachers Wednesday night when he spoke of the desirability of showing those possessed of the fruits of industry "something of the value of beauty, character and dignity in our surroundings and homes." Beauty, character, and dignity are attributes of art, and art is not a fragile, exotic thing which must be confined to galleries and museums, but is applicable to everyday human environment as well.

Mr. St. Gaudens has inherited the finest tradition of art in the work of his father, the distinguished sculptor. It is evident, however, that he has broad ideas of his own.

He regards this as an excellent field. "It is the foundation of art," he says, "that is the foundation of art, because the foundation of art is industry." It is only after industry has permitted the amazing of means more than sufficient to provide for the necessities of life that men feel free to devote attention to culture.

THE KARLIST ATTEMPT IN HUNGARY has had even shorter shrift than the short-lived coup in Berlin. The climate in Europe just now is not good for Hohenzollerns or Hapsburgs. Karl, at any rate, is not the man to rejuvenate monarchism, even in Hungary. He represents a damaged name, a declining institution, and probably a depleted physical and moral constitution. ## TREATING HEART DISEASE.

ACCORDING to the census office report, heart disease is now the chief of the army of death. Dr. N. C. Gilbert informs me that the average length of disability of a man with heart disease is longer than that of a man with consumption. Therefore, he argues heart disease is more important than consumption and those conditions which have shown their ability to bring consumption under control should plan to accomplish the same end with heart disease.

The man with heart disease can be trained to take care of himself in such a way that he not only can live out his life expectancy but he can be a prodigious member of society, taking care of his family and paying his way as he goes. To do this he must learn to take proper care of himself, to guard against infections, to do all the work that is good for him and no more, and if he needs to take digitalis, to learn how to take it.

In recent years we have learned that the way to take digitalis is to determine the daily dose required to keep up a certain strength in the blood and to take this dose. To fix the dose requires careful study. Another fact learned in recent years is that breaks in compensation in heart disease are due to infections, and are often due to over-exertion, physical strains, nervous shock, worry, or excitement.

The man with heart disease must learn how to care for himself and, having learned his law, he must live it. No part of the law is more important than that relating to exercising. By experiment and trial he must learn what he can stand and, having fixed his limits, he must stay within them.

When compensation is broken and the feet are swollen and the heart is pounding, he must stay in bed. But as soon as the swelling subsides he must get up and build up his general muscle tone. If he overexerts, his pulse will become rapid, the color of the face and lips will show that the heart is in trouble, there will be a feeling of distress or even pain in the region of the heart, the breathing is labored or there may be faintness or dizziness. If these symptoms come on, he must stop, be quiet, and breathe deeply until the discomfort has passed.

To build up his muscle tone he can climb stairs, use dumbbells, skip rope, and do other exercises described by Dr. P. B. Barringer in his book "The Heart," starting with the low down, carrying them over the head, and around. A milder exercise is walking. A heart case should not walk while walking nor walk against a strong wind.

Dr. Barringer recommends that obese persons with heart disease reduce their weight. He thinks this is very important. And his point is a cutting one: weight, since he has worked for betterment of heart cases through training in how to live for years.

SEPARATE YOUR GARBAGE.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—(Friend of the People.)—Why don't they remove the cans of garbage at Homan and 12th street? After my can was removed the top of the garbage man removed the top of the can and said he couldn't take away the garbage. The alleys are overflowing with rubbish. Can't something be done?

THE future of the garbage collector to make collections was on account of lack of separation. The ordinance provides that each house must have a separate receptacle from other refuse. If compliance will comply with the ordinance she will have no further cause for complaint.

THOMAS H. BYRNE, Superintendent of Streets.

"PANAMA CANAL."

Chicago, Oct. 21.—(Friend of the People.)—Will you kindly settle an argument as to the ownership of the Panama canal? Who owns it?

Where can I get some good information about the Panama canal? I have asked several people about this but no one seems positive.

THE United States owns the Panama canal. For detailed information see pages 133 to 135, volume 11, Encyclopedia Americana, at the Chicago public library.

"TWIN TON TO HOLLER."

Chicago, Oct. 20.—(Friend of the People.)—We wish to call attention to the fact that 30th street between Michigan and Indiana avenues has not been cleaned since June, 1921. The accumulation of dirt has caused stoppage of the sewer and the water stands in the street.

THE street referred to has been cleaned. THOMAS H. BYRNE, Superintendent of Streets.

WAY TO GOOD TRANSPORTATION.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—In regard to your editorial, "Supposed to be Scarcity," cut out the bunk is right, but eliminate it all. Including the rainbow nickel fare for a ride over a modern transportation system for Chicago.

Why not tackle the subject from a practical point of view and urge the essentials necessary for a system of local transportation which this city needs? Follow the history of Chicago transportation problems, and you will find that every investigation conducted by real transportation engineers has recommended as an essential the unification of all local transportation facilities. This is a measure that has been accomplished through the unification of the surface lines and the consolidation of the elevated lines. The next step necessary is the consolidating of the surface and elevated lines. For this state legislation is necessary.

What is most needed is the development of our rapid transit service by utilizing to the fullest extent the existing facilities, building subways and elevated extensions, improving the surface line trackage, especially with the view to having the surface lines act as feeders and distributors to the rapid transit lines, provide north and south rapid transit west of the river.

All this will cost many millions to accomplish and years to build. We'll get the money when the city is willing to secure the investment with the public on the cost of operation, with only a fair guaranteed return to the investor.

But how can Chicago get all this? By electing a mayor who is many enough to be on the square with the public. You may say that this scheme was submitted to the people and defeated. That's true, but it was defeated through misrepresenting facts, selfish interests, and politics.

This question will be solved when the city is willing to follow the recommendations of practical men, backed by a mayor and the city council. No more investigations are needed. The report of the Parsons-Arnold-Ridgeway commission shows the way. Stop dithering.

H. D. CAPTAIN.

DECLINING A SUGGESTED JOB.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—We notice in your question a day column by the inquiring reporter that a J. H. Schlesinger of 126 West Madison street makes a statement to the effect that Uncle Sam said the railroad men ought to get to get together all of the unemployed ex-service men and put them to work running the trains.

The ex-service man is too honorable to take the bread and butter away from another man. He would rather go hungry himself than to crawl so low. He showed he was upright and honorable when he went to the defense of his country and he will remain so whether or not he is on the railroad men. Several of their comrades in arms are now railroad men.

JOHN E. HATDEN, Ex-Service Man.

55 CENTS PER STOP IN LINCOLN PARK NEXT.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Is there truth in the rumors that automobilists who stop their cars while going through Lincoln park will, shortly, have to pay 55 cents per stop—based, I presume, upon the fact that to leave your car in FREE Grand park you now have to give up a like amount. And when is the link bridge to be made a toll gate?

EXPOSED!

Genoa, Ill., Oct. 21.—I note that you are keeping a human reporter down at Ellis Island to write sob stories of the incoming foreigners.

It is such a shame that any investigation is made of these people coming into our ports. We should let the diseased, sore eyed, insane come in, for they can, within a few short years, help us make our laws.

You, as a paper, have fought the dry laws (to no avail), because you could spread across your papers more loathsome stories for our boys and girls to read; have fought the battle for the railroad men. Several of their comrades in arms are now railroad men.

JOHN E. HATDEN, Ex-Service Man.

LET 'EM FIGHT.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—If the railroad unions derived their power to get what they want merely by threatening their employers it would be a battle which those two parties would have to settle, but when their power is derived from threatening injury to the entire population a dangerous situation is created, and in my opinion that such a situation is now called for and we must all be ready to sacrifice just as though the battle were with a foreign enemy.

U.S. READY WITH PLAN TO LIMIT ARMS OF WORLD

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Important developments today concerning the forthcoming international conference on limitation of armaments and discussion of Pacific and the eastern problems included the following:
Disclosure that America, through its delegation, will have ready to submit to the assembled powers a comprehensive plan for limitation of world armaments on an equitable and just basis, this plan to be used as the vehicle for discussion of the first subject on the tentative agenda, which is reduction of armaments.
Decision to postpone the first assembly of the international delegations until Saturday, Nov. 12, it having been regarded as impractical to meet on Nov. 11, because of the United States events in connection with the observance of Armistice day.

Will Bar Talk of Debts.
Determination of the American delegation to discourage any effort that may be made to inject into the conference a discussion of international finance, as against the United States' announcement that the five principal powers alone will participate in sessions which are to be devoted to the discussion of limitation of armaments, the delegates from China, Belgium, Portugal and the Netherlands to attend only those sessions in which Pacific and eastern questions are scheduled for discussion.

It was necessary in the interest of expediting the work of the conference to make a selection of powers most heavily interested in armaments.

BRIAND MAY BE OUSTED

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
PARIS, Oct. 25.—The specter of a "Chinese-Russian-German alliance" was evoked by Andre Tardieu in the chamber of deputies this evening.

Bankers have for years studied the terms and conditions under which savings accounts are received to plainest and most simple terms. A pass book contains a copy of the terms, and every bank has officers to explain.

EVER figured how much time is wasted trying to keep warm? There are usually a number of winter days when the heating system is not enough when you'll need a Simplex Electric Sunbowl to chase the chills from corners and desks.

The Simplex Sunbowl is cheerful, safe and economical. Its copper reflector glows with the effect of clear, outdoor sunshine. It will not scorch or burn. The Sunbowl requires no more current than a Simplex electric iron. Have a Sunbowl at home and in the office. It assures comfort and will prove a real economy.

ning in a fierce attack on the Briand government.
M. Tardieu was speaking on the question of a vote of confidence which Premier Briand had demanded as a mandate to represent France at the Washington conference. As leader of the National party, now in the majority in the chamber, M. Tardieu's attack carried such force that many leaders predicted M. Briand will not get the vote tomorrow and his government will be forced to resign.

Test Comes Today.
Premier Briand sought to reply to M. Tardieu, but the chamber adjourned until tomorrow. The premier had planned to call for the United States on Saturday.

When the French communists of the extreme left laughed uproariously at his new war specter, M. Tardieu retorted it was "only necessary to read the German press to realize that such an alliance was being prepared by Germany."

Although French high commissioner in the United States during the war, M. Tardieu practically demanded that France back Japan, in the Pacific crisis, against America, stating, "It is advisable to support Japan and to rely upon the Japanese, who had been faithful allies during the war, to maintain order in the far east and to counteract the threatened combination of China, Russia, and Germany."

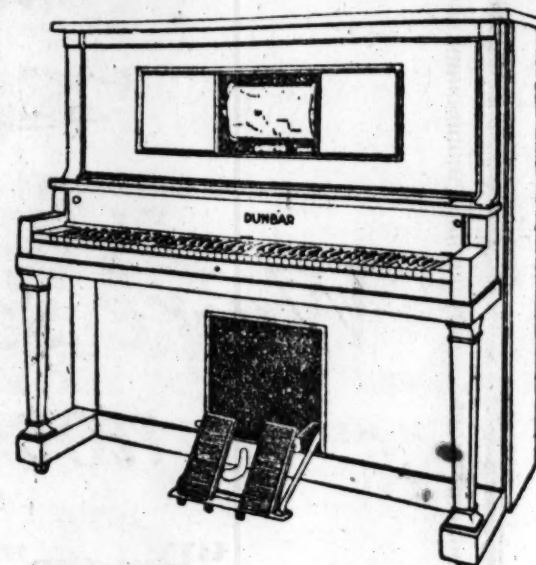

M. Tardieu added that there was "nothing more regrettable than for the French to choose between their former allies and associates."

M. Tardieu criticized Premier Briand for failing to organize a group of nations, with France at the head, for the diplomatic maneuvers at Washington, he asserting the United States represented South America and the British empire, the four corners of the globe.

EBERT CALLS ON WIRTH TO FORM NEW CABINET

Faces Uncertain Party Support in Reichstag.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—Joseph Wirth, who resigned from the office of German chancellor last Saturday, has been designated by President Ebert to form a new cabinet.

He has consented to assume the task.

It was in an eleventh hour attempt to solve the political chaos brought about by the Wirth cabinet's retirement, that President Ebert tonight requested Dr. Wirth to form a so-called business men's, or non-parliamentary, ministry. It is expected the new government will take office tomorrow.

Not A Coalition.

The cabinet will not be a coalition one, as all efforts to reconstitute the three party bloc or to induce the German people's party to enter a government, failed definitely when the democrats and the representatives of the People's party withdrew from today's inter-party conferences owing to a dispute over Upper Silesia.

The majority socialists and the clerical party will constitute the nucleus of the parliamentary support actually vouchsafed the new ministry. The democrats and the Independent Socialists promise to stand by it, while the German People's party again agrees to observe benevolent neutrality.

Seeks His Aids.

Notwithstanding the precarious nature of the support afforded him by the inter-party gentlemen's agreement, Dr. Wirth sallied forth tonight in quest of men to fill the government bench when the reichstag meets at noon tomorrow. The cabinet, it is considered, will be wholly an emergency makeshift which will undergo changes a few weeks hence. Its organization under pressure is due solely to the government's predicament with respect to the entente's ultimatum in connection with the appointment of commissioners for negotiations with the Poles.

CITY HALL FOES IN G. O. P. START COALITION MOVE

Formal move toward a coalition in 1922 of Republicans opposing the domination of Chicago and Cook county affairs by the Lundin-Thompson machine and the regular Democratic organization was made yesterday.

With the old Deneen and Brundage elements harmonized, the Republicans opened negotiations with the Democrats with a view to amalgamating all anti-Lundin forces for next year's campaign, primary, judicial, and election. They named a committee of four to act with a similar committee from the Democrats in perfecting a plan of operation. The Republican conferees are Joseph

F. Haas, Homer K. Galpin, Thomas J. Healy, and Robert R. Levy. This committee, it is understood, is authorized to propose to the Democrats that a coalition county ticket be named on the basis of renomination of all county officers whose terms expire next year, Republican and Democratic.

It will be emphasized that the main object of the coalition will be the breaking up of the Thompson-Lundin machine by repeating the dose it was given last June.

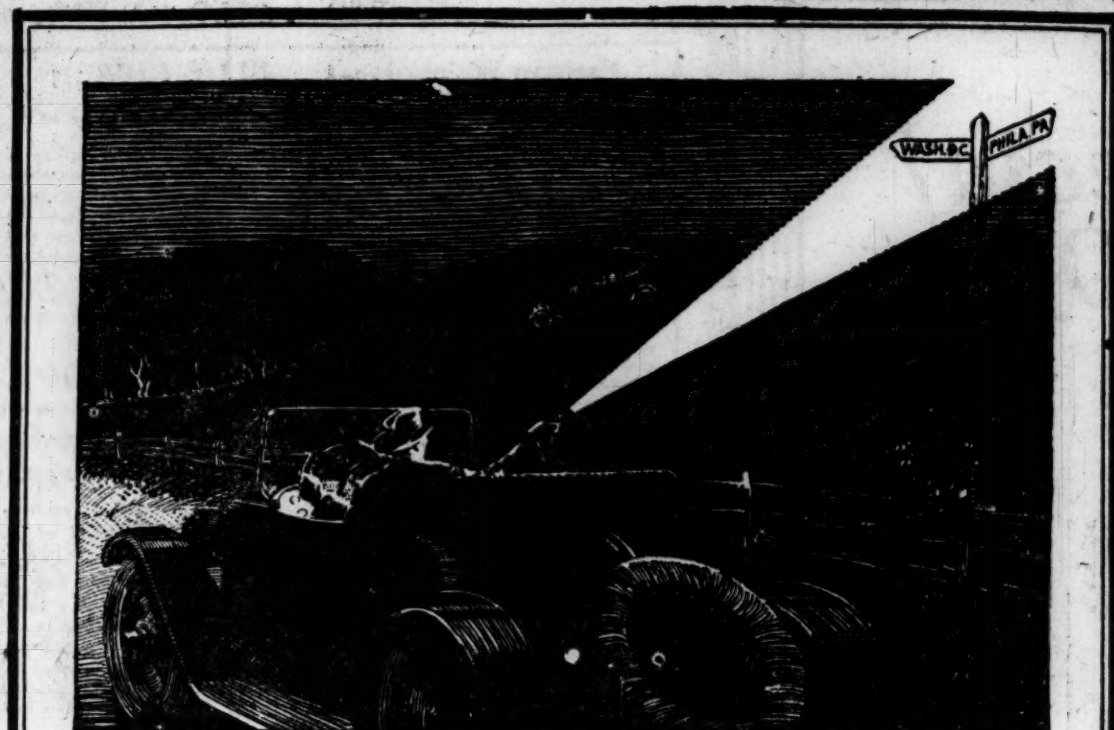

It is expected the proposal will be referred by the Democratic managing committee to the ward organizations for their approval. If approved the managing committee will then name its four members of the conference committee, which will at once begin work on a practical method of amalgamating.

CONSTIPATED FOR 30 YEARS
Permanently Relieved by Cereal Meal
When a business man of large affairs has suffered from the many handicaps of Constipation and its dangerous partner, Auto-Intoxication, for such a period, it is fair to presume that he has tried every known remedy.
And when permanent relief is found in a delicious Breakfast Food which operates in a purely natural way, without the slightest shock to the system, it is indeed a noteworthy performance.
Here is an unsolicited letter from the gentleman:
Feb. 1st, 1921.
Dear Sir: Permit me to make the following statement: I, A. F. senior member of the firm of F. Bros., had been a sufferer from chronic constipation all my life.
For thirty years I had been taking medicines for this trouble, but could get no permanent relief, and at the time I saw your advertisement of Cereal Meal I was so run down as to be hardly able to walk and was a physical wreck.
I ordered a package of your Cereal Meal, and soon solved great improvement in my condition; after fifteen days I threw away my pills, boxes, and got no regulator but your Cereal Meal.
Today, at the age of 67, I attend to my extensive business affairs every day, and am feeling better than for thirty years.
Very truly yours,
A. F.
Eaten daily, Cereal Meal insures against Auto-Intoxication and permanently relieves Constipation.
Though advertised but a short time, it is now being used in 4,800 homes in the State of Massachusetts alone.
Cereal Meal can be obtained at the better Grocery and Druggists—if not at yours, advise him that he can purchase it from a Chicago wholesaler of drugs or groceries, and in the meantime purchase a package from some other dealer or write direct to manufacturer, The Cereal Meal Corporation, Chambers at Main St., St. Louis, Mo.
The strongest guarantee goes with each package, for if you are not entirely pleased with Cereal Meal in every way, your dealer is authorized to refund the full purchase price if you return the unused portion to him as unsatisfactory.

'SPIRIT OF WEST' IS 'DO 'EM HARD,' POOLE REPORTS

It takes superlatives, though not necessarily complimentary ones, to describe the west, according to Russell M. Poole, city high cost expert, and John A. Richert, who returned from western tours yesterday.

"They blew a great deal in the west," said Ald. Richert. "They are the greatest boosters I've ever seen. The west coast is the robbingest I've ever seen. Hotel and restaurant prices are from 33 to 50 per cent higher than in Chicago," declared Poole, who, like Richert, visited a half dozen cities, including Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, and Seattle.

Mr. Poole added that in California there is a growers' trust for every fruit and vegetable. Though fruit is rotting in orchards on the edges of cities, prices are asked "which make Jesse James look like a piker," he asserted.

Some Price Examples.

He made public the following price list charged in a Los Angeles hotel to prove his assertions:

Strawberries which retail for 20 cents a pint, 60 cents a dish; grapefruit, 30 cents an order; two figs, 60 cents; prunes, 40 cents; rhubarb, known as the cheapest vegetable, 30 cents an order; boiled rice, costing 8 cents a pound, 35 cents an order; coffee of the 30 cent a pound variety, 30 cents a pot.

Climax Reached in Diner.

"And to cap the climax, an Illinois Central diner they charged me 20 cents for cheese costing 2 1/2 cents to go with a piece of pie costing 25 cents," the food expert said.

A report of his inquiries, including the percentage of the price paid by the consumer which goes to the producer, growers' association, railroad, jobber, speculator, and retailer, and to other "middlemen" will be made in a few days, Mr. Poole said.

He said that growers' associations are so powerful in California that independent growers have neither a market nor cars in which to ship their products to market.

Ald. Richert asserted that experience of western cities proves that motorization is the only cure for Chicago's costly and antiquated refuse disposal system in which teams are the units of transportation.

"POISON CANDY" SENDER TRACED; FACES PRISON

Postal inspectors announced last night that they have discovered who sent the box of alleged "poisoned candy" to negroes in the West End hospital last Tuesday. They are waiting for the sender, said to be an attaché of the hospital, to give himself up and thereby save himself from a heavy penalty.

"He thought he was perpetrating a joke," said Assistant District Attorney Harry F. Hamlin, "but he laid himself liable to a sentence of twenty years in prison and a fine of $10,000."

DEPENDENT HUSBAND SHOTS SELF.

Dependent since his wife's death, Joseph Kulesh, 27, 2010 Throop street, shot himself in the head yesterday. County hospital officials said he was d.

COUPLE OF IF'S KEEP CITY FROM CHEAPER MEAT

A 10 per cent reduction in the retail cost of meat was promised yesterday at an executive meeting of the Master Butchers' association. If members of Meat Cutters' union No. 546 would agree to accept a wage cut of $8 a week. But—

From an authoritative source it was learned that officials of the meat cutters' union have already reached an agreement with the master butchers whereby the present scale of $40 a week is to remain in effect for another year. The only concession the union representatives made to the employers, it is said, was to permit members of their union to work an extra hour on holidays, with the stipulation that time and a half be paid.

William Russell, president of the Chicago Master Butchers' association, after the meeting issued the following statement:

"The union officials are insisting on maintaining the war time scale of wages. It is the master butchers' idea that there should be a reduction in the present wage scale in accordance with other lines. Figures were submitted to show there has been a decline of from 25 to 40 per cent in the volume of meat business over a year ago, without any decrease in the cost of operation.

"If the public is to derive the full benefit of the decline in the costs of meat then the journeymen meat cutters must do their share and accept a reasonable cut in wages.

"The minimum wage of butchers is $40. It is admitted by union officials that 75 per cent of the meat cutters are receiving $45 and up weekly. Under existing conditions a large number of markets are operating at a loss."

At a recent meeting of the Meat Cutters' union, the members decided to take strike action, when their contract with the employers expires Nov. 1, if the proposed wage cut of $8 a week was put into effect. Meanwhile officials of the Meat Cutters' union are "negotiating" the wage question with the master butchers.

ELECTIONEERING KEEPS N. DAKOTA AT BOILING POINT

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—With Gov. J. A. O. Preus of Minnesota speaking four times a day for the recall of Gov. Lynn Frazier, and Dr. Henrik Shipstead, his opponent in the Minnesota election, making a town to town campaign by automobile, and with speakers for the Independent Voters' association and the Nonpartisan league in all parts of the state, the most exciting campaign in years in North Dakota is drawing to a close with both camps claiming victory.

The usual roorbacks have been circulated, both sides being accused of this practice. The I. V. A. today sent out a circular denouncing the league for "sending out an exact reproduction of the Independent Voter's association sample ballot," upon which it is charged that the "X" is placed in the column after the league candidates' names. Charges of illegal electioneering plans have been laid to both sides also.

Oratory Up to Last Minute.

Gov. Preus is to close his campaign Thursday night. All other speakers will be killed up to the last minute before the election on Friday.

The I. V. A. headquarters today made much of the new tax levy for the state general fund. The levy is 2.35 mills, to raise a total of $3,141,840 for this fund. Last year the levy was 1.8 mills, to raise $1,665,555.

Speakers urging the recall of the Nonpartisan league administration are citing the experience of Minnesota, where under an anti-league administration the state tax levy for general purposes has been remitted this year.

Says Women Will Beat I. V. A.

R. M. McIntock, editor of the Fargo Courier News, league paper, tonight declared the state had been saved to the league and the defeat of the attempted recall of Gov. Frazier, Attorney General Lemke, and Commissioner of Labor and Agriculture Hagen had been assured by the women's clubs.

League leaders claim that the I. V. A. is split and that it will lose votes even in the former anti-league cities. Large, cheering crowds are attending all the meetings, and the heaviest vote in the history of the state is expected.

ROOSEVELT POST TO PLANT TREE FOR ITS PATRON

BY LEOLA ALLARD.

Chicago is invited to another big tree planting celebration by the Theodore Roosevelt post of the American Legion. John G. Little Jr., commander, announces that the post invites all Chicago to be present tomorrow at 3:30 o'clock, when a large hard maple tree will be planted to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt at the entrance to the Speedway hospital. This will be the birthday of the much loved patriot, and the post wishes its memory road to begin with this big tree in his honor.

Son Invited to Attend.

The present Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy and a life member of the post, was invited to speak, but is attending another celebration, and Judge Landis, also invited, is officiating at the Illinois university dedication. Their messages will be read.

The tree will be planted in the shadow of the flagstaff immediately in front of the entrance to the hospital's administration building.

Armistice Day Planting.

Roosevelt post will plant about 200 trees on Armistice day, following the initial planting. Jack Robinson will be in charge of that celebration, during Commander Little's absence, who represents the Legion of Illinois at the burial of the unknown soldier at Washington.

The services begin promptly at 2:30. Everybody is invited.

PRISONERS CALM AS FIRE RAGES.

Fire last night at one of the trade school buildings of the Illinois state reformatory at Joliet caused a loss estimated at $2,000. The inmates remained quietly in their cells.

'BAT' MASTERSON, GUN FIGHTER AND SPORT, GOES OUT

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—William Barclay Masterston, a nationally known western character and for the last fifteen years sporting editor of the New York Telegraph, died suddenly of heart disease at noon today at his editorial desk. He was 66 years old, but had been active up to the last, dying "with his boots on."

In the earlier days of his life, Masterston was a famous gun-fighter on the side of law and order. He was sheriff of Dodge City, Kas., when Dodge City was a cow town with the reputation for free and easy notions as to the value of human life, as ever were enjoyed by Miles City, Mont. Mr. Masterston was in Dodge City in the days of Seth Bullock and "Wild Bill" Hickock and "Calamity" Jane.

A friend of Roosevelt. When Theodore Roosevelt was a ranchman at Medora, S. D., he came to know Mr. Masterston and was fond of him. In 1905, when the colonel was President, he sent out to Denver for "Bat" and named him deputy United States marshal for the southern district of New York.

Mr. Masterston was shy of talking of his frontier days, except in the way of recalling the characteristics of some of his associates who "took the law into their own hands." He had held up his end with Wyatt Earp and his brothers, Luke, Sharkey, "Doc" Holliday, and "Buffalo Bill." He was an intimate friend of the late Alfred Henry Lewis, who built many of his western stories about Mr. Masterston's life.

One of Mr. Masterston's most famous exploits was the battle of Dobe Wells, when, with nine companions, he stood off a band of nearly a thousand Cheyennes.

Was George Gould's Guard. George Gould brought Mr. Masterston to New York as a body guard to protect him against an insane man who was writing threatening letters. Mr. Gould acted on the advice of Police Inspector Byrnes and gave wide publicity to the coming of the westerner. Mr. Gould was not attacked and the letters ceased.

Mr. Masterston was famed as a faro player for high stakes. He went back backing Charlie Mitchell in his battle with James J. Corbett.

He was a familiar figure at all big prizefights and was one of the most widely known men on Broadway.

BLOW TO CHICAGO FRIENDS. The death of "Bat" Masterston was the common subject of conversation along the Randolph street Rialto last night and there was many sad faces among the old timers as they recalled humorous and pathetic incidents in the life of the famous westerner, sportsman and newspaper man. For "Bat," in the days when horse racing was flourishing in Chicago was a prominent figure here and he had many friends among theatrical people.

In the old days "Bat" had an interest in the biggest book at the Washington Park race course," said Lou Housman, veteran theatrical manager, "and later he moved out to the Hawthorne and Harlem tracks."

A Tender Hearted Fellow. Despite the fact that he was absolutely fearless, "Bat" was a tender-hearted, sympathetic fellow and I never will forget the time I saw him coming down the stairs with his dead dog in his arms. He carried the dog out to the street, stopped a huckster, and after buying his vegetables and renting his cart, threw the vegetables into the gutter and used the cart to haul the body of his dog to the lake front where he buried it.

"Yes," said W. A. Phipps, head of the detective agency of that name, "Bat was absolutely fearless, but he wasn't one of those hard-boiled eggs who went out looking for trouble. They say he killed more than twenty men but I know that isn't true. He only killed three. One of those he shot in Phoenix, Ariz., and the other two were the murderers of his brother. He hunted them down in Dodge City and killed them."

GASOLINE ALLEY—A NEW LABEL FOR SKEEZIX?

STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER

ALoud, long wall comes from Harry Neary, manager of Midget Smith, the New York bantam, that his boy was the "victim of a bad official decision in his last fight with Joe Burman at Madison Square Garden." We don't know whether this is true or not and as a rule we are not very strong for a man who yelps because he's hurt a little. What we do know is that on two occasions around these parts when these boys mixed it, Smith was returned a victory once and earned a draw the second time. Neary does not claim his boy won the Madison Square Garden fight, but insists that a draw would have been a fair decision. He quotes two newspaper men as declaring that the Burman decision was wrong, and he wants another meeting. If the boys do clash again it will be a fight worth seeing.

Here's what Tex Rickard says about Plectina, who has offered to meet Zbyzko, the "trust's" wrestling champion: "Plectina must be the goods, as I offered Lewis and Zbyzko all sorts of inducements to meet the Chicago man, but they wouldn't accept the most liberal terms. Plectina is willing to meet any wrestler in the world on a winner take all basis, or any fair appointment of anything that I will offer. If I hadn't thought he was a real wrestler I wouldn't have signed him up for Pesek on Nov. 14." A match between Plectina and Zbyzko would be a humdinger, but it looks as if the combination was afraid it would lose its "title" to an outsider.

Johnny Meyers, who claims to be middleweight wrestling champion of the world and way stations, doesn't

LANDIS ASKED TO RULE ON GEDEON

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 25.—Telegrams to Judge K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, and President Ban Johnson of the American league, asking them to rule on the status of Joe Gedeon in organized baseball, were sent today by President William H. McCarthy of the Pacific Coast Baseball league. Gedeon is expected to play in an exhibition game at Marysville, Cal., Nov. 11 with American, National, and Coast league players. As he was unconditionally released in 1919 by the St. Louis club of the American league, following reports that he had knowledge of attempts to bribe players, McCarthy said he wished information whether Coast league players should play with Gedeon.

INDIANS RELEASE RAY CALDWELL

M. DUNDEE MAY MEET AURORA SHOW VICTOR

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of Tribune boxing representatives are: At New York—Gene Tunney knocked out Wolf Larson [7]; Jimmy Tomasek beat Joey Leon [8].

The winner of the Frankie Schaeffer-Joe Wagner bout at Jim Mullen's Aurora show on Friday night will be rewarded with a match with the best featherweight available, according to the promoter—probably Mike Dundee.

Next to Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, I believe Dundee is the best man in the division," Promoter Mullen said yesterday. "I saw the match between Kilbane and Frush and I am positive Dundee would have made a much better fight than Frush. Mike is a two handed fighter and carries a K. O. wallop in his right hand."

Local fans are taking a keen interest in the show and there is brisk demand for tickets at 129 North Dearborn street and 153 North Clark street. A special train will be run over the Aurora and Elgin electric. It will leave the Wells street terminal at 8:40 o'clock, city time.

Charley White, local lightweight, who a few months ago started on a campaign which he hopes will land a return match with Leonard, lightweight champion, has several offers which he expects to close in a few days. Boston, Denver, El Paso, Tex., and New York want his services. Tex Rickard wants to see White with Rocky Kansas some time next month at the Garden. White is training at Peretti's gymnasium.

Semi-finals of the new amateur boxing tournament will be held in the Coliseum tomorrow night instead of at the Broadway armory. The change was made necessary because the armory had been rented for another fight, but the change was requested to be on hand at 7 o'clock and weighed in, and the first contest will be started one hour later.

Pal Moore, Chicago's popular bantamweight, will leave today for Houston, Tex., where he will trade punches with Frankie Dundee on Friday night. Moore will return to Chicago after the contest to resume training for the U. S. S. Commodore on Nov. 4.

Sailor Freedman, west side lightweight, and Manager Hirschel Miller will box a ten round fight on Friday night, where Miller will box fifteen rounds to a decision with Ernie Rice on Friday night. Manager Miller will apply for a second license upon his arrival in order to be in Freedman's corner on the night of the contest.

Eddie Stanton, manager of Willie Green, who broke into boxing prominence at Great Lakes during the war, is seeking matches for his featherweight. Stanton is willing to match Green with Frankie Schaeffer, Mike Dundee, Joe Wagner, or any other local 128 pounder.

Joe Burman, local bantamweight, who recently received a decision over Midget Smith of New York, has started training at the Arcade for a pending match with Johnny Buff, king of the 118 pounders. According to Burman if the match is closed it will be held next month.

Mike Gibbons will be at the Arcade for a workout today, according to a telegram from his manager. Gibbons is on his way to New Orleans, where he will box Happy Lil' Uleton on Monday night.

Bob Roper, local light heavyweight, will fight on Friday night, where he is scheduled to meet Frank Moran in a ten round contest on Friday night.

Sam Langford has accepted the position of boxing instructor at Peretti's gymnasium. He will start on his new duties today.

Only the highest skill—can make a raincoat really waterproof

THE tiniest pinholes—the smallest cracks—uncovered seams at any point—are enough to let the water through. It takes layer upon layer of rubber to make a coat permanently waterproof.

Every Raynster has six layers of finest rubber built right into the fabric. These six layers are built up so smoothly and evenly and the completed coats made so light and flexible, you'd never know the rubber was there.

Raynsters are made in many styles and fabrics for men, women, boys and girls. Some models have the smartness of a light overcoat, with all the rubber hidden. Other types for outdoor workers—farmers, firemen, policemen, drivers—have the rubber on the outside, a perfectly smooth surface to repel stains and dirt.

"In the beauty contest among Northwestern girls last year," Coach Robinson points out in his plea, "three of the eight successful contestants were expert swimmers."

While there will be no beauty contest this year, Coach Robinson believes his arguments for swimming as a means of beautifying the feminine figure will prove irresistible and that he will have a large class.

WOODS AND WATERS

RESTOCKING ILLINOIS LAKE AND STREAMS

MILLIONS of white bass, bluegill, bass, and other fish have been "planted" in Illinois lake and streams this year by the state, so there is no danger of being fished out right away. The lake trout and whitefish will be stocked for stocking purposes.

Handicapped by the limited amount of only one fish hatchery which does not produce enough fry for the state, the wardens occasionally stock from a government hatchery in a nearby state. Another source of supply is the shallow backwaters of the Mississippi from which millions of fish are taken before the small and bayous dry up.

These salvaged fish are brought to the state and put in our lake and streams.

And now William Stratton, state game warden, is trying to get a few million white eyed bass for the government doesn't mind giving them. As for the trout fishmen, they are by no means discouraged in the work of fish propagation.

St. Clair says he is going to rainbow and brook trout. He says they'll flourish, too. There is a stream within fifty miles of Chicago where brook trout have been planted and they are doing fine.

ENGLISH GIRLS DEFEAT VASSAR IN HOCKEY GAME

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—In a fast, well played game the all-English women's hockey team defeated the Vassar College team, 13 to 0. Miss Katherine Card of 235 Central avenue, Hawthorne Park, played right inside for Vassar.

The English team has been in the country only a week and in that time has defeated last year's All-Philadelphia hockey team, 18 to 1, and the Overseas Philadelphia team, 11 to 1.

The team that played Vassar has never played together before. It was chosen from the fourteen women who came from England last winter. Miss Liddell, the English captain, made two of the goals in the first half and in the second half rest were made by Miss Clark, left wing and Mrs. Stewart, right wing. Also in the forward line.

WOODS AND MAROONS THROW THEORY ASIDE IN WINNING ATTACK

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

The old football theory, which is lived in the east more than in other sections of the country, of playing a safe, conservative game, was shot to pieces with the playing of the Chicago Maroons game last Saturday.

The Maroons' fast attack theories and started on a plan of offense and defense which carried them through the thrilling battle with flying colors.

Whether such a scheme would be successful against other eleven, can only be proven with the playing of other strategies.

In the memorable struggle decided in the Tiger's jungle, Chicago did not hes- itate to put the ball in play by scrim- maging inside the 20 yard-line when the game was 0 to 0. Thought of a fumble or missed signal never entered the minds of the players who started to march up the field as if they were well inside Princeton territory.

Panned by Eastern Critics.

When Chicago first started a march up the field, eastern coaches, players, and critics—and there were a pretty number in the press stand—were severe in their criticism of Coach Stagg and his theories. They asserted the Maroons were flitting with certain- ty, and claimed that their declara- tion would be proven before the game progressed any considerable time.

At one but several times during the game Chicago took the oval from its own territory into the Tiger's portion of the gridiron. After a conservative march, criticism of the Maroons gradually diminished. The sure and easy manner in which the chalk marks were covered showed beyond doubt Chicago was masters of the situation, and that the punter would be called upon unless a large yardage was needed to make fourth down.

Rely on Plungers.

Time after time Chicago had a yard and sometimes two to gain on a fourth down, when the ball rested in midfield. The kicker was not called upon, which would have been the case if funda- mental football principles had been respected. Instead, one of the Maroon backs was hurried into the line, and not once did Chicago surrender the oval to down.

Time after time the kicking game is de- pended upon to bring about the desired results. The theory is that to lose the ball on downs is equivalent to giving an opponent thirty or forty yards—the distance of a punt. A team which surrenders the ball on downs may sud- denly find itself in the shadows of its goal posts. If the other elects to punt on first down.

The big eleven of the east, Yale, Harvard, and Princeton, especially, have believed in scrimmaging in their own territory when the score is close.

Tigers Punt on First Down.

In the Chicago game Princeton in- variably punted on first down when it recovered the ball in its territory. If the teams are evenly matched punting is resorted to, and the break of the game is depended upon to swing the tie of victory.

The east has always prided itself on the play. From the beginning of the play period, the forwards are tied in every knack of charging and blocking. When the lines are looked upon as veritable stone walls, Prince- ton had a good line in the Chicago game, but it cannot be said it was pro- tective in excellent line work.

There is some excuse when a run- ner bursts through an opening on a run- off play or delayed pass, but there is none when large yardage is made con- siderably. A tight, hard charging line was a plugging attack and if the oval remains in the hands of the team, the forward wall can gradually loosen up and broaden out.

Recommend for Coach Stagg.

The Princeton game, however, showed one thing which must be cor- rected by Coach Stagg before later games are played. Opposing ends must be stopped from going down the field to over-kick. The Tiger flank players were on Maroon punt catches the moment they had the oval, and in several times Cole and Romney had not taken a step before they were tackled.

On the other hand, Maroon ends were not so fortunate in getting down under kicks, but did admirably well, considering the fact the Princeton ends and defensive half backs tried to cut them down.

EARL POTTINGER IN CARDS' LINEUP

Earl Pottinger, former University of Pennsylvania half back, will be a regular member for Paddy Driscoll on Sunday when Chris O'Brien's Chicago Cardinals meet the strong Hammond professional football team at Normal Park.

According to O'Brien, the former Outback player is working well with the team and fits into the play in a man- ner which speaks well for the off- ensive strength of the eleven. Buckeye, who was a member of the gridiron squad at Great Lakes and later with the Chicago Tigers, also will be in the Cardinals' lineup.

More than 1,500 rooters are expected to accompany the Hammond eleven, which has been playing good football. The Hoosiers rely mostly on team play for victories. The game will be held at 2:30 o'clock.

BOOSTERS PLAY RACINE SUNDAY

Two of the strongest aggregations in the middle west will meet when the Chicago Boosters and the Racine Amer- ican Legion play Sunday at Logan Park. These two teams have been cleaning up everything in sight, and the Chicago Boosters took a full out of the Joliet Elks, 24 to 0.

The Racine team will travel here with an all star crew. It has upset many teams who have entertained high as- sessments, and when Manager Law- rence Applehans lines up his men he will have to use his best to win.

ILLINOIS. URBANA, Ill., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—While many of the Illinois regulars rested, the reserves battled the freshmen tonight and held Burt Ingwersen's yearlings on the one yard line. Zuppke called off scrimmage much earlier than usual. Don Pedon was at halfback and is slated to play Saturday. Jack Crangle was unable to report and with Walquist on the sidelines, the varsity backfield consisted of Sternaman, Woodard, Durant and Pedon. It is believed that the Illinois will improve this week, with Zuppke working like a beaver to correct the faults shown in the preceding games.

WISCONSIN. Madison, Wis., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The Badgers worked hard at scrimmage today against the All-Americans, who are using Minnesota players. The frosh, who have been unable to give the varsity sufficient opposition for good scrimmaging, were forced into action. Williams worked at quarter in place of Gibson, who was injured last Saturday, but who will probably be in shape before the end of the week.

OHIO STATE. Columbus, O., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The first run in the drive for the Ohio State victory through a short but sharp signal drill and a short scrimmage. Wiper, running one of the substitute eleven, tore through the freshmen team for long gains, once running the length of the field for a touchdown. Wiper has been hitting a steady ball all year and is heavy enough to play a half back if he should develop further.

MINNESOTA. Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Coach Williams of Minnesota, evidently is expecting a lot of end runs and forward passes in Saturday's game with Wisconsin. He is preparing a stiff defense for that method of ground gaining. The freshmen, using Wisconsin players, scrimmaged with the varsity tonight and managed to fool the regulars with their long sweeping end runs and aerial attack. Before the scrimmage Williams gave his men a number of trick formations. Carl Fryer ran the team from quarter back, with Cooper in Martinez's old position. Students are arranging a special train for the Madison game.

WITH no opposition, the regular ticket, headed by Mrs. Hathaway Watson, will be elected at the annual meeting of the Women's Western Golf association at Normal Park.

Mrs. Watson, who has displayed fine executive ability in two years of service, was prevailed upon to accept a third term, and her selection was unanimous. Today's meeting will mark the retirement of Miss Edith E. Packard of Olympia Fields and Mrs. C. F. Ott of Glen Oak, who have served in various capacities for seven years. A 1 o'clock luncheon will precede the executive session, at which the winners of the various events and the point winners for the year will be announced. The ticket is as follows:

President, Mrs. H. Hathaway Watson, R. B. Hill; first vice president, Mrs. G. B. Turner; second vice president, Mrs. F. H. Ball; Oak Park; corresponding secretary, Mrs. B. C. Vandenberg, Bloomingdale; recording secretary, Mrs. Eleanor E. Harwood, Olympia Fields; treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Monroe, South Shore.

The executive committee, made up of fifteen members, will also be elected, with cities outside of Chicago being well represented.

The La Grange Country club will hold its Harvest Home dinner and dance tomorrow night.

Ted Lloyd won the club championship of the Jackson Park Golf club Monday defeating Ernest Bones, 6 up in 18 holes play. The match was scheduled for 36 holes but Bones forfeited at the end of the first 18.

EASTERN GRID TEAMS SHOW GAINS IN PLAY

BY W. W. (BILL) ROOPER.
(Head Coach, Princeton.)

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Chicago's defeat of Princeton at Palmer stadium proved the big upset of last Saturday's games. Covered this game rather extensively in my article in the Sunday paper. I have nothing to add.

The Chicago offensive shift, supported by some of the fastest running backs on the football field, proved too much for the Princeton defense. Gar- rity, the great Princeton full back, made a valiant effort to change defeat into victory when he came in in the fourth quarter, but it was too much to expect that he could score against the Chicago defense when this was the first scrimmage he had been in for nearly three weeks.

The Princeton team spent Sunday getting over their bruises at the Pine Valley Golf club. They are in a splendid frame of mind, and I still have every reason to believe they will find themselves in the big games.

Yale Eleven Gaining.

Harvard and Penn State had a thrilling afternoon. The game was full of offensive work on both sides. Harvard teams in the last few years have a great knack of coming up from behind in the last quarter, and this Harvard team seems to be no exception. Substitutions at the proper time tied the game for Harvard.

The Yale team is slowly finding itself. This was demonstrated Saturday. And, what is more, Yale backs know how to forward pass and how to defend against it. Yale's two scores were the direct result of the pass. In one case Aldrich intercepted an Army forward pass and ran nearly the length of the field, and in the other case Aldrich threw a beautiful pass to Beckett for the first touchdown.

Penn Has Easy Game.

Penn recovered itself for the 27-7 defeat at the hands of V. M. I. last year. The Pennsylvania team put up the best exhibition of football they have shown this year, while V. M. I. was handicapped by the loss of a couple of linemen. The Penn offense was versatile and baffling in the extreme.

Picks Chicago to Win.

The games last Saturday give a pretty good idea of the comparative strength of the teams in different sections. From what they have shown to date, I pick Yale, the Navy, and Pittsburgh as the most formidable in the east, with Penn State, Dartmouth, and Harvard in the second class, Princeton, the Army, and Lafayette third, and Pennsylvania and Cornell the best of the fourth string.

Way to Play on Canton Eleven

Way, one of the mainstays on Hugo Bezzek's Penn State eleven for the last three years, will be seen at his old position at half back in the Canton Bulldogs lineup on Sunday when the Staleys meet the visitors at Cub Park in an important struggle in the American Professional Football association.

During his college career, Way was a remarkable off tackle driver. As West and Henry, two great tacklers who were selected for All-American teams, will play their positions for Canton, Way is expected to make considerable ground on his pet plays.

Staleys Work Hard for Game with Beloit Eleven

Jack Dunn, former quarter back at the University of Michigan, sent the husky Staleys-Forersters through a snappy all around drill last night in preparation for the battle to be waged with the Fairbanks-Morse football eleven at Beloit at 8:30 p.m. next Sunday. Fortune, formerly of Michigan; McGregor, late of Illinois, and Barry of Pennsylvania are among the well known gridiron performers who will appear in the Staley-Forer lineup.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

TASK FOR MAROONS.

HAVING achieved their objective in beating Princeton, Stagg's Maroons now face a task even harder than before in meeting on successive Saturdays, beginning Nov. 5, Ohio State, Illinois, and Wisconsin.

Spirit and determination, combined to form a task intangible but important factor known as morale, play an important part in deciding football contests. The Buckeyes, Illini, and Badgers will battle more valiantly than in my bank.

An Oasis Looms.

To any Helpers interested in our personal health, we will say we are feeling very poorly this morning. In fact, we think a visit to a physician advisable. If he should prescribe two and one-half gallons of "medical beer" we will try to endure it. It would temporarily, at least, moisten our arid system. How is your health?

Eldridge of Michigan.

Possibly you did not identify Eldridge, selected as referee of the Chicago-Princeton game after a long discussion between athletic authorities of the two colleges. He is none other than Clarence E. Dope! Eldridge of Michigan. It should be explained that the nickname "Dope" was not acquired through any peculiar habits, but from the fact he was Tribune correspondent while studying law at Ann Arbor.

Eldridge also acted as umpire in chief and one of the judges when Tribune conducted trials to select the best amateur basketball players in Chicago. After practicing law here he went to Lansing, Mich., as counsel for the Reo Motor Car company, but returned a couple years ago as manager of the local Reo agency. His handling of the eastern game is complimented by Walter Eckersall, himself an experienced official.

COLORADO GRID TEAM LEAVES FOR CHICAGO TODAY

Boulder, Colo., Oct. 25.—Colorado university's football team, which meets the University of Chicago eleven Saturday at Chicago, will leave here tomorrow morning for Denver, where they will entrain Wednesday afternoon for Chicago.

Coach Witham is taking twenty-five men. Britzman, one of the regular guards, may not be able to make the trip, having turned an ankle in practice this afternoon.

The Colorado line averages about 175 pounds. Two-back field combinations, one light and the other heavy, average 149 and 172 pounds.

MAROON SQUAD RUNS THROUGH FAST DRILL

With all but one regular in shape for practice, the University of Chicago football team started to get ready for the Ohio State game one week from next Saturday. All indications point to a much harder game than the Maroons had at Princeton last week.

The game with the University of Colorado Saturday is taken only as an incident on the Chicago schedule, not an event.

Every man who played in the Princeton game was on the field last night running signals without a sign of a bump except Ralph King, the sensational sophomore center. He is rounding into shape slowly, but no chances will be taken with him in the coming tilt with the Colorado eleven. Dawson will be at center when the Maroons tackle the team from Boulder.

Romney and Cole, who suffered most at Princeton from the savage Tiger style, did not show a trace of a bump and they passed, kicked, and sprinted through practice at top speed. Instead of slumping after the intense nervous pitch to which they were relaxed, and they tore through signals like a lot of wild men.

Reckless, whose teeth were bungled up during the Tiger game, returned from his home and reported for practice. Tickets for the Colorado game were put on sale yesterday and there was a brisk demand, indicating that folks hereabouts want a peek at the Maroons, who sprang into favor as a championship contender by their two hours of work at Princeton.

NORTHWEST INDOOR TEAM WINS.

NOTRE DAME.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Word reached here today that the tickets for the Indiana game had been sold out at Indianapolis, and a consequent rush developed for the spectators on sale at the local gym. The Notre Dame freshmen play the Great Lakes team Saturday at Great Lakes.

POLO CLUB BILLS HUNT FOR SUNDAY ON N. S. GROUNDS

The opening hunt of the North Shore Polo and Hunt club will be held next Sunday over a course laid out from the club's grounds at Lincoln avenue and Peterson road.

The club has had a most successful year on the polo field, having won a majority of its matches, among them being the decisive defeat of the strong army team from Camp Grant.

The steeple-chase held last Saturday at the Onwentsia club proved such a big success the members of the other organizations in the vicinity are eager for similar events, and the North Shore club has invited all the riders in this part of the country to compete.

Entries should be sent in to Herbert Lorber, president of the club, 1937 Insurance Exchange building.

The first steeplechase will be held Nov. 6. Entries for this event are now being taken, and some of the best horses in Chicago and vicinity will be in the going.

The organization is planning a big series of features for late fall riding, as well as getting ready for next summer's polo matches.

SPEEDY BACKS OF PURPLE TAKE UP NEW OPEN PLAYS

The Purple team will adopt a style of play similar to that of Notre Dame when it takes the field against De Paul college at Evanston Saturday. Coach McDevitt spent yesterday afternoon in giving the varsity plays which were likened to those used so successfully by Notre Dame, and it is thought that these may spell victory for Northwestern in the remaining games of the season.

With Chuck Palmer, a good forward passer; Ewing, and Grier, experienced ends, and Grausnick, McElwain, Bensing, and Blumenthal, speedy backfield men, on the squad, it is expected that the Purple team can successfully adopt the new play, which includes forward passes, and that the attack can be made to work well. Northwestern's team is light but fast, and the Notre Dame offense may be the winning one for it.

Vive la bagatelle

Truly, it is the little, bright, gay things that give one's day the piquant turn, the unlooked-for adventure. To suddenly come upon a poem of a comb—Dresden roses that clamber to Spanish heights over gold fillet; to chance upon such a sweet frivolity as a bracelet of ribbon and flowers; to find oneself shivering with delight over a frosty silver bandeau; and the next moment to be tempted by the golden apples of the Hesperides, all twisted in a bewitching circle for the hair—these are adventures in Bagatelles. To be found among the French importations in the millinery section.

The flickering
 of a flame

That subtle, quivering, leaping spirit of a flame has been caught and held in a fire-colored fan of coque feathers. As the little points of black-tipped blaze flicker with every movement of a slim wrist, they keep time to flickers of wit, to leavings of thought, to repartee as quick and bright as a bon-fire. It is the blaze of fashion, this fan, and it will go like wild fire through opera, dance and balsmasque.

A new angle
 on corners

Corners used to be bleak, uninteresting places where dunces considered their stupidity and had little children repeated of their sins. But corners these days have achieved a new place. There is usually a window, where curtains may be gayly flowered or a sun-shiny yellow; and a bright bit of English chintz can cover a chair, and for other corners a soft taupe velvet with a silver sheen.

ARMS OF GUARDS HALT ROBBERS OF I. C. MAIL COACH

Pouch and Discarded Gun Found at 12th Street.

Armed guards early last night nipped the bad what government agents believe was a bold attempt by two men to hold up a registered mail coach at the Illinois Central station at 12th street.

Shortly after train No. 402 from West Pullman arrived at 119 the guards noticed that a registered mail sack was lying twenty feet from the other coaches and between a coach and the platform. Investigating, he found an automatic pistol lying beside it.

Two Men Are Seized.

Two men who had arrived on the train and were standing near the mail sack were taken to the federal building. They will be questioned today.

The pouch contained no money or other valuables and there was only about $1,000 worth of mail in the whole sack. However, on some nights, postal authorities said, cash amounting to several thousands of dollars is carried.

Board Train at West Pullman.

It was found the two men boarded a mail coach at West Pullman and remained on the train until it reached 12th street. The postal inspectors' theory is that the would be robber tossed the pouch off and then dropped his pistol beside it when he noticed that the station guards were armed.

ROB SEMINOLE LIMITED.

Coronado, Ill., Oct. 25.—An express mail car of the "Seminole Limited" was robbed and taken to the federal building as an undetermined amount of parcel matter near here today.

There was no first class or registered mail in the car, one door and a window of which were broken.

GET 'EM, DEAD OR ALIVE

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Postal inspectors, police of this and many other eastern cities, and private detective agencies were working tonight on the theory that the million dollar mail robbery at Broadway and Worth street last night was a "made job."

They were continuing their study of suspects, questioning clerks and others who might know or have opportunity to learn in advance of the movement of the huge sum of money and bonds and other valuable registered mail, the amount of the actual loss was climbing, but not yet definitely ascertained.

The federal government today issued a reward of $5,000 for "each of the robbers, dead or alive."

It is known positively that the three armed bandits got more than half a million dollars in stocks and bonds and the five sacks of registered mail they took from the mail wagon.

Four Wall street institutions figured in the mail robbery. All of the securities were insured, and neither the banks nor brokerage houses nor their clients stand any loss.

AUTO ACCIDENTS KILL THREE; U. S. TRUCK HITS MAN

Three persons died yesterday from injuries received in automobile accidents and two others were seriously injured.

Frank J. Kubek, driver of a United States Mail truck, was threatened with violence for a time after his truck struck, under a Broadway car at Dearborn and La Salle streets. The motorist was the accident in time to prevent the rear trucks of his car from crushing Kubek.

It was several minutes before Kubek could be extricated from his perilous position and taken to Iroquois Memorial hospital. His recovery is doubtful, it is said.

Brook W. Crowe, 35 years old, Fort Park, was instantly killed, when his car collided with another driven by Otto Walters, 200 West 109th street.

Carl Gaus, 50 years old, 823 Custer street, died in Alexian Brothers hospital from injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile, driven by Mrs. W. Bernhart, 2747 Hampton street, Oct. 17.

Theodore Dinabier, 71 years old, who lived in West Randolph street at Dearborn and Elizabeth street, struck by an automobile early yesterday morning, died in St. Anthony's hospital.

"Vampire auto" probably fatally injured Tony Denber in Cicero. Police are searching for the driver.

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

THIS is the amusing, not to say instructive, adventure of Miss Theodore Gloucester—Ted, to her friends—who effected a twentieth century pilgrim's progress from too many cocktails to love in a cottage.

And had the time of her young life doing it.

Miss Crothers, I am told, points a moral in this as a cautionary tale of our fast younger set. As nearly as I can gather, it teaches that the craze of late, the day sin in the conventional happy ending. Which may not be sound sociology, but, being what it is, it is in the theater, is what we want invariably get.

Nobody at the Cort was at all concerned about a moral last evening, however. We were all too much occupied in watching Miss Francine Larimore romp and flash and storm through the tumultuous chain of events that encompassed her.

Father had been talking things over with a solicitous aunt, and chose a wrong moment to forbid her setting out for a roadhouse at 1 a. m. or thereabouts with the kind of a youth she thought she liked. Just by way of showing him that the stern parent idea is extinct, she went anyway. Smart, precociously sophisticated, and thoroughly spoiled, she made a mess of it—stayed out all night and wound up the next evening in her own deserted cottage, far away in the country, where her young man drank too much and went to sleep, while a storm raged outside and made the roads impassable.

Then out of the rain stumbled a fine, honest fellow so engagingly impersonated by Rod La Roque that she fell in love forthwith. And when father turned up in the morning and demanded that she set things right by marrying the companion of her wild excursion she intimated that she would do no such thing.

And she didn't. She stayed in the country, tended chickens while father and you can guess the rest. Sunshine and happiness and Rod La Roque.

The play is at its best in its earlier phases, which constitute a rather searching picture of life as it is led by some of our "nice people" with too much money. Here Miss Larimore has free rein for her pert ways, her quaint touch of boyishness, and her droll habit of pointing on a phrase to denote some quick turn of emotion. She is the only actress I know who can mumble her words and get away with it.

Toward the end the tale becomes a trifle mushy, but it is far from the acting. This is capital in nearly every case—notably that of Miss Merle Madden, who is convincing and real in the sympathetic rôle of Ted's disturbed aunt, despite a curious tendency to lapse now and then into theatricalism.

"Charm schools" teach that to hold the affections of her beloved a woman has only to develop physical beauty and an interesting personality. This theory was shattered yesterday in the hearing of a suit for divorce before Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior court.

Mrs. Marion Miller, 4878 Magnolia avenue, testified that on last Aug. 20 she asked her husband, Harvey N. Miller, an automobile salesman, why his love had shifted to another woman. Mrs. Florence Taylor. Her testimony was as follows:

"Is she more beautiful than I am, that she has stolen your affections?" I asked him.

"You are far more beautiful," he answered. "There is another reason."

"Is it that her personality is more interesting?"

"If you insist upon knowing," he answered, "I must tell you that it is her kisses. Your kisses were always given dutifully, while hers vibrate with the essence of life."

Judge Sabath granted her a divorce and $100 a month alimony.

JOB FOR WOMEN GROWING FEWER; PAY IS SHRINKING

"I'll Accept Any Work," Attitude of Many.

BY MARTHA.

MARTHA, Martha, thou hast troubled thyself about many things.

Old women trying to "qualify as young and strong"; untrained girls insisting they are as good as the "experienced"; nurses asking for a chance to fry eggs; clerical workers willing to wash dishes; and young women, driven desperate by lack of work, threatening suicide—these are a few of the problems presented yesterday at the women's department of the department of labor free employment office, 116 North Dearborn street.

With a daily average of 300 women applicants for jobs, October shows a greater unemployment crisis for women than September or August.

"I'll do any kind of work," is the attitude of most of the women, although a few, mostly in the domestic class, are holding out for wartime wages.

Chicago Girls First.

Rumor that Chicago is solving the unemployment problem is bringing into the city great numbers of women and girls from the middle west and adding to the local problem, according to Mrs. Lilla H. Walter, superintendent of the women's department.

"We are here," said Mrs. Walter yesterday, "to serve all applicants, no matter where they come from. But the employer, rightly enough, is giving preference to applicants with Chicago references."

Employers can be particular. "Young, strong and experienced"—these are the three usual demands. In addition, salary cuts are apparent, sometimes beyond the point of legitimacy.

A factory foreman telephoned the bureau yesterday offering women workers $9 a week. When told this was a low wage he replied: "Before the winter's over they'll be begging for work at $8 a week."

Study of Women's Pay.

A comparative study of salaries scheduled at the bureau in January 1921, and October, 1921, shows the following wage cuts:

	January.	October.
Stenography, from.....	$18-$20	$15-$23
Office work, from.....	15-30	10-25
Factory, from.....	14-60	7-20
Domestics from.....	7-20	3-15

With board and room.

There has been no change in salaries for institutional workers. Hotels, according to the tables, have reduced wages from $65 a month, with room and board, to $60. Many of the newer hotels do not furnish room and board and pay a correspondingly higher wage.

More and more are the trained women, capable of specialized, high salaried work, coming to the bureau.

Object to Aid Women.

"They are often embarrassed," said Mrs. Walter, "at getting something for nothing. We want them to feel this is not a charitable organization but a definite civic institution, to the services of which they are entitled."

"I won't do it again, Doris. Word of honor."

Ted wheeled out the two bicycles.

"Come on, Crystal. Stop sniffing. It's all rot to make such a fuss over nothing. Wait until you get properly caught. There's no bulling off in this for either of us. I suppose you motored in, mother?"

"Yes, and I'm not coming back directly. I've got some business with Mr. Barry."

"Right-o. See you later. Come along, Crystal."

The guilty couple cycled in profound silence until Rockport had been left behind.

Ted felt a certain delicacy in touching upon the subject which was uppermost in their minds. Moreover he was slightly disgusted with both Andrew and Crystal. He had heard it asserted that one day he himself would probably marry, but the idea was not pleasant. From early childhood he had grown accustomed to the spectacle of men falling in love with his beautiful mother, but the fact that she rejected them, one after another, raised her higher in his estimation, if such a thing were possible. It fell to simple minded and single hearted Crystal to furnish Ted with his first disillusion, and not his scandalous young mother.

"Of course, it's none of my business, really," he began, when by common consent they deserted the tram lines for the longer route, "but I couldn't help seeing something, Crystal."

"I thought Andrew was your best friend," she challenged.

"He is. At the same time—"

"O, and I told him we could count on you!" Crystal cried reproachfully. "But you are a child, and I am nearly twenty. I haven't any right to—"

"Look here, you shut up. I'll be fifteen next month—three months before you're twenty. And I know my way about. I'm not going to peach on you. Andrew is my best friend and so are you. All the same, if I'd guessed what was happening—well, I wouldn't have let you come today. I suppose you'll have to marry him, Crystal?"

"No!" Crystal shouted angrily.

"That's not true, Ted dear. I did want to come. Crystal said wearily, as she sat humped with her head in her hands on the lower rung of the ladder. "You thought I didn't, but I did."

Good heavens, was she going to confess to all of it?

SURFACE LINES HAVE AN INNING ON FARES SLASH

Attorney Spends All Day Reading Exhibits.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The first was part of a letter written by Chester E. Cleveland, attorney for the city administration, which is printed in the council proceedings of June 23 last. In that Cleveland says that the commission cannot "reduce fares arbitrarily."

"Every intelligent person at all familiar with the law knows that this cannot be done and that an order so entered would amount to nothing," reads the letter.

Then he goes on to show how it should be done, as follows:

"The effectual way of applying for a reduction in rates is by making proper applications to the new Illinois commerce commission, compelling the companies, respectively, to answer the applications, and then showing evidence such facts and changes in conditions as will warrant a reduction in rates."

That there has been such a change in conditions, and that such facts as to be proven, we entertain no doubt, but the services of competent experts and lawyers and a large amount of labor will be needed in preparing and making and prosecuting such applications.

Must Show "Change in Conditions."

Apparently the point which Mr. Cleveland had in mind was that a "change in conditions" must be shown. Mr. Sheehan will probably charge later that Mr. Cleveland has presented no evidence on "a change in conditions" since the 8 cent fare was established in the final order of Nov. 5 last.

Another exhibit was a proposed agreement, initiated by the companies and presented to the city, by which the surface lines would turn over $15,000 to the city. This is the 55 per cent of the net receipts which the city had previously refused. It was proposed to turn over the money without prejudice to the city's right to demand the value of the surface lines.

The other exhibits were orders of the old utilities commission on fares and service, starting back in 1915. Prof. M. E. Cooley of the University of Michigan will be the principal witness today. He will speak regarding the value of the surface lines.

ARMY-NAVY CLUB
TO HAVE ITS OWN
HOME IN CHICAGO

Chicago is to have the first Army and Navy clubhouse to be established in the country west of New York City. This news was received yesterday by Maj. A. J. Benson, acting president of the Army and Navy club of Chicago, in a message from Gen. Leonard Wood, president of the American Legion and several wounded soldiers, last night at a banquet at the Hotel Morrison.

Col. Charles E. Jacques last night was elected president of the Chicago chapter of the Quartermasters of the United States.

FARM AND GARDEN
BY FRANK RICHARDSON

GROWING NARCISUS IN PEBBLES AND WATER.

Every apartment dweller in Chicago could have windows lined with blossoms by Christmas if they will start a few narcissus bulbs to grow by the end of this month. A few bulbs, and gardeners or saucers, with a handful of pebbles in each one of them, is all that is needed.

To start narcissus in the window garden use only shallow jardiniere. Cover the bottom of the vessel with a layer of pebbles to hold the bulbs.

Place the pebbles on the bottom of the jardiniere and work the bulbs down among the pebbles. Keep the root end of the bulbs down. Then cover the pebbles with enough water to submerge the roots and growth will soon start. In watering remember that too much moisture is detrimental to the bulbs. Immediately after the first watering set the jardiniere with the bulbs in a dark place and keep them there for about ten days or two weeks or until the roots have had time to make a good start. Water the bulbs regularly. Small amounts of water poured into the bowl every other day is about the best plan.

A cellar is an ideal place to start the bulbs, but they do well in a dark closet if it is well ventilated and not allowed to get too warm. At the end of two weeks remove the bulbs from the closet and keep them in a light room. The average living room furnishes good conditions for the narcissus. If a pan of water is kept on the radiator to keep the air from becoming too dry, when the bulbs are in the light, the bulbs should be moved to another room where the temperature will not go below 55 degrees. The narcissus plants seem to do best where the temperature at night runs around 60 to 65 degrees Fahrenheit.

Three Freed as Slayers in Death of Dr. Lipson

Three men held as the slayers of Dr. John Lipson, owner of St. Paul's hospital, in a holdup in Sam Rehnman's drug store at 3601 South Halsted street two weeks ago were exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday. They are William Fox, John Flannagan, and John Burns. Rehnman and another man identified the three men as the holdups after Dr. Lipson's death, but later changed their statements. Police charged that they had been "influenced."

If you adore being surprised, make up your mind that "Pilgrims of the Night" doesn't sound like an interesting picture; then just happen in to see it anyway because you're in that vicinity. Surprise! It's a peach!

Rarely have you, I, or the grouch next door seen anything finer. It's no spectacle. No visual thunder of trappings and sets meets your eye. There is no splurge of "artistic supervision," no pretentious or wordy subtlety. All that happens is, a story lives itself before you in which the people are real and human and where events happen so naturally that you are lifted from your role of observer and become a silent friend, enemy, ally and accomplice of the players. There is no bit of the acting that is not perfect in its way. Even the surprise registered on the faces of the servants whose routine is strangely disturbed gets across to you poignantly. You know just how they're feeling.

The picture is adapted from Oppenheim's "Passers-By." I didn't read the book—and I don't care to. I have seen the photoplay and been charmed. The tale concerns the activities of a band, known as the Black Fox, whose members are greatly desired by the police. Enmeshed in the tangle of love, loot, and the law are a father, his daughter, who does not know she is his daughter; a clever villain who is not clever enough; a young crime expert who loves the daughter; a piteous hunchback who loves her too—and a monkey.

(I don't know that, after all, I didn't like the monkey best.)

BLUE BOOK

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondent]—Early in the season one of the French milliners sent a hat trimmed about the brim with sea shells. Perhaps, in connection with the permanent wave pre-arranged underneath this was a logical thought. However, it seemed a little radical at first. Yet today the sea shell trimmed hat is encountered every now and then.

It only goes to show how firmly the novelty trim, the sensational accessory has taken hold of our imaginations. Our costume itself is apt to be prim as a New England village, but we make up for it in the manner. Our trimmings, in the wild riot of our accessories.

Among the millinery phenomena of the autumn may be mentioned the quill. This, sometimes lacquered, sometimes hand painted, sometimes of the fabric composing the hat, is associated frequently with hat of felt or duvetyne. Usually it occurs in a pair, and it is as not the pair is turned upside down.

It is one of these popular quill-trimmed felt hats which we show today in connection with a smart suit of brown duvetyne collared in beaver, and ornamented with fine black braid, and possessing a cape in lieu of sleeves. The hat is fuchsia, and the quill is lacquered black.

Chicago Theater Will Open Today

The Chicago theater, Balaban & Katz's $4,000,000 loop playhouse, opens this evening at 5:30 o'clock. Charles H. Wacker, president of the Chicago plan commission, will be master of ceremonies.

The theater has been in process of construction about two years. It is said to be the largest and finest in the world, seating 5,000. Its architectural treatment is French, of the period of Louis XIV., and its decorations of the French Renaissance.

Norma Talmadge in the former stage play by Channing Pollock, "The Sign on the Door," will be the initial attraction.

CLOSEUPS

Katherine Griffith, one of the screen's well known character actresses, died suddenly last week at her home in Hollywood. She had just started work on the adaptation of Booth Tarkington's "Penrod."

The slim, slinky, black haired, big eyed Marla Manon will have the lead in the coming J. L. Frothingham's picture, "The Man Who Smiled."

A number of British film exhibitors are expected in Los Angeles next month, their object being to see just how the Americans throw their plot. (Figuratively speaking.)

Carter De Haven has signed up with Associated Producers.

Six companies are being laid off at the Fox studio. Report has it that for a while only the Tom Mix, William Farnum, and William Russell productions will remain active. Altogether about 1,000 persons will be temporarily out of work.

During an exciting baseball game one young man was doing a great deal of yelling. This seemed to annoy little Bob, who turned to the offender, saying: "You'd sound better if you kept still."

"Please, teacher, I can't come to school tomorrow; my mother is going to the graveyard to see a dead lady."

on Billy's face, and, turning to Billy, said:

"Young man, would you like some candy?"

Of course, Billy's face brightened and he immediately replied, "Yes, sir."

He handed Billy a penny and, of course, the candy was purchased.

As Billy came out of the candy shop he noticed the two men were there and walking up to the one who gave him the penny, said: "See, mister, will you be here this same time tomorrow, 'cause I am coming back?"

Curiosity to Blame.

A girl friend of mine had just arrived from a neighboring city to pay me a visit.

As we walked from the railway station in company with another girl, the visitor surveyed the different buildings in sight, and remarked: "You have a lot of pretty homes here, haven't you? But whose can that barnlike dwelling over there be?"

After a moment's embarrassed hesitation on our part, my local girl friend answered cheerily, "That is where I live."

Haughty.

The man who had just shined my shoes was about to help me get my skirt out of the way of the brass foot-rests, but I did not approve of the idea. I felt quite capable of guarding the skirt myself, so I got up and in a graceful manner as I could manage was about to jump to the step below when my skirt caught and I fell through the floor. I left the place in haste and never intend to go back. S. N.

GRAINS SEESAW, BUT CLOSE WITH PRICES HIGHER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain prices advanced and averaged higher, although, like the previous day, they reacted from the best prices at the last on profit taking and closed with gains of 1/4 to 1/2 on wheat, 1/4 on corn, 1/4 to 1/2 on oats, and 1/4 to 1/2 on rye, while barley was 1/4 higher.

Buying of wheat on a weak spot was on by the big eastern houses, who turned buyers on the bulge. At the previous day's close, with December touching 1.19 1/2 and May 1.14 1/2, and the close was 1/4 higher from the top.

Wheat receipts of 1,888 cars, against 1,878 cars the previous week, and 1,647 cars last year. Minneapolis and Duluth had 653 cars, against 624 cars the previous week, and 703 cars last year. In the southwest arrivals are under last week and last year. Export clearances were 1,062,000 bu., against 1,458,000 bu. last year.

Corn has better support. Corn received better support and advanced 1/4 to 1/2 for December and 1/4 to 1/2 for May and closed 1/4 higher from the top. Commission houses and locals were good buyers, Wagner leading, while selling was scattered and mainly on resting orders.

Oats were lifted out of the rut and prices advanced 1/4 to 1/2 for December and 1/4 to 1/2 for May, with the close 1/4 higher from the top. Buying of December and selling of May at 1/4 difference was on a liberal scale for local interests.

Rye was stronger with a good advance, but prices reacted from the top. Cash prices were 1/4 to 1/2 higher under December. Provisions close easier.

Provisions had an easier close owing to the break of 25 to 40 in hogs, with 100 carried over unsold. Early in the day offerings of product were light and prices held only to ease and close with a slight advance to 2 1/2 for the October, which was offered sparingly. Ribs were unchanged to 2 1/2 for the October. Cattle were reported good. Loose lard was 25c under October and leaf sold at 10c. Prices follow:

COTTON MARKETS

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The report of the census bureau that less cotton was picked Oct. 18 than anticipated in view of recent price estimates. This was followed by an advance of about 5 to 10 in the futures, some profit taking, but the close was within a few points of the best, steady at a net advance of 7 to 10 cents.

RAILROAD NOTES
The Chicago Traffic club has sent a special resolution to President Harding requesting him to appoint railway men to the membership of the interstate commerce commission.

Col. John V. Cline, first assistant United States district attorney, will address members of the Chicago Passenger club this evening at a dinner, vaudeville entertainment, and dance in the casino room at the Morrison.

A formal complaint has been filed with the interstate commerce commission by the American Wholesale Coal association asking a suspension of all demurrage and reconsigning charges on coal during the crisis developed in the strike order of the railway unions. It asks that the commission act without a hearing so that many of the 100,000 idle coal cars may be loaded with coal and moved before the threatened strike becomes effective.

Claims Against Common Carriers

Loss, Damage, Injury and Delay
Property Transported in Interstate and Foreign Commerce entitled
"Limitation of Common Carrier's Liability"

Covers all questions involving CLAIMS BETWEEN SHIPPERS AND CARRIERS, including status of carrier's liability, and validity of limited-liability clauses in bills of lading under Section 20 of the Interstate Commerce Act, as developed by the "Carmack Amendment," and the first and second "Cummins Amendments." The purpose of the work is to state the present law governing every proposition involving carrier's liability in a manner that is readily understandable in its application to everyday problems.

All legal works heretofore published on the subject of the rights and liabilities of shippers and carriers have been rendered obsolete by the interpretation and construction of Section 20 of the Interstate Commerce Act by the United States Supreme Court.

The only up-to-date, complete and authoritative work of this very important and much-misunderstood subject. Affects every shipper and carrier in the United States, whether large or small. Treats fully the many leading decisions of the United States Supreme Court governing this subject, including the following controlling cases: McCann, Dinmore Co., Primrose, Lockwood, Hart, Piper, Riverside Mills, Croninger, Detlebach, Prescott, Starbird, Olivet Bros., Carl, Harrison Bros., Blush Mill Co., Burke, Pierce Co., Rankin, Robinson, Ward, Leatherwood, Crane, Seely, Neiman-Marcus Co., Hooker, Reid, Collins Produce Co., etc.

A few of the important subjects treated:
Common-law liability as modified by statute—Extent of liability of initial, connecting or terminal carrier—Limited-liability clauses governing transportation of live stock as perishable traffic—Vessel owner's liability in foreign commerce—Rates dependent upon declared or released valuation—Liability of carrier for full actual loss, damage, or injury regardless of limited-liability contract—Validity of limited-liability provisions in contract of shipment, classification and tariff—Time for giving notice of and filing of claims with carriers, and institution of suits—Elements and measure of recovery—When freight price or market price controls interest—Refund of freight charges—Exemption of carrier from liability for act of God, public enemy, negligence of shipper, public authority, inherent vice or nature of goods—Liability as warehouseman—Export and import traffic—Forms of domestic and export bills of lading—Shipper's weight, load and count—Cost Proceedings—Jurisdiction of Interstate Commerce Commission—"Carmack Amendment"—Cummins Amendments—"Harter Act," etc.

This work is an absolute necessity in the proper settlement of claims against railroads, express companies, steamship lines and other common carriers, and is of exceedingly great value to business executives, chambers of commerce, railroad officials, claim agents, lawyers, bankers, traffic managers, shipping clerks, etc. The work contains a comprehensive ANALYSIS, a lucid and authoritative SUBJECT-MATTER with copious notes and complete citation of cases, a detailed INDEX, and a complete TABLE OF CASES. The work is printed on the highest quality of paper, and the style of printing used provides maximum legibility, being clear, large type. 425 large pages of size 7 1/2 in. x 10 in. Bound in law buckram.

For differentiation purposes the Analysis is printed on pink paper, the Subject-Matter on white paper, the Index on green paper, and the Table of Cases on yellow paper. The mechanical construction and color scheme of the work is both original and unique. IT SAVES TIME, LABOR AND MONEY.

Do This

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

Notice the refreshing effect which follows every use. The mouth is left in alkaline condition.

You will know then what this new way means to you and yours.

Quick Changes Come

Look now at your teeth, then look in ten days. The new whiteness will probably surprise and delight you.

Another prompt result is a refreshing, cleanly feeling in the mouth. The starch deposits are combated wherever they exist. The mouth is left in alkaline condition. These results are much like those which come after eating acid fruits.

This ten-day test will 20 times bring you all these good effects.

White Teeth Everywhere —Just look about

You see glistening teeth wherever you look today—teeth you envy, maybe. Ask about them and you will generally find that the owners use Pepsodent.

Dentists say that one glance at the teeth tells them a Pepsodent user. The reason lies in the effect on film. Those dingy coats are constantly combated. If pretty teeth appeal to you, use the method your friends use to get them.

Avoids Age-Old Mistakes

Modern research proves that soap is detrimental to the teeth. This means an alkaline dentifrice, and alkalis in their reaction depress the flow of the naturally alkaline saliva. That is considered a great reason why the tooth brush has proved so inadequate. Practically every former tooth paste has been based on soap.

Pepsodent omits soap, to comply with modern requirements. It employs agents far more efficient. Thus, among other things, it multiplies the saliva's alkalinity. It gives this constant, ever-present factor a many-fold effect, to neutralize mouth acids.

Watch the Unique Results

Let Pepsodent itself convince you. Some results are immediate, all are prompt. A ten-day test will show conspicuous changes.

It has brought those changes to people all about you. You can see them almost anywhere you look.

They are natural results, based on long research and approved by authorities.

For your sake and your family's sake, learn what they mean to you.

Smoke-Stained Film

Smokers will see conspicuous effects, for tobacco stains the film. Pepsodent should be used to combat these smoke-stained films.

Enjoy These Effects

for ten days—See how your teeth look then

This is to urge that you make a test which has brought delights to millions.

Brush your teeth in a new way—use a new-day dentifrice. Modern authorities advise it. So do leading dentists everywhere.

Watch the results for ten days. Note the benefits you see and feel. Then decide if you wish to continue.

Five new desired effects

Pepsodent with every use brings five desired effects. All are beneficial, all are delightful. Together they mean a new era in teeth cleaning.

They are based on modern research. Authorities now deem them essential.

Bring them to your own teeth. Learn the reasons for them, then judge them for yourself.

One effect is to attack the film—the coat that dims the tooth luster.

Another leaves teeth highly polished, so film-coats less easily adhere.

The salivary flow is instantly increased. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent.

The starch digestant in saliva is multiplied at once. That is there to digest starch deposits. Otherwise they may cling to teeth, get between the teeth, ferment and form acids.

The alkalinity of the saliva is multiplied. That is to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

All these results come from every application. Pepsodent brings whiter teeth and cleaner teeth. It creates an alkaline condition in the mouth. It combats the film. It gives to Nature's tooth-protecting forces a multiplied efficiency.

Based on years of research

High dental authorities have for years studied the cause of tooth troubles.

Those troubles have been constantly increasing. Despite the tooth brush, very few escape them. Some have become alarming in extent.

Pepsodent combines the best solutions which have been discovered. It brings five important effects which old methods do not bring.

You can see those effects and feel them. The benefits are very soon apparent. The scientific reasons will make them clear to you.

Send for the ten-day test we offer, and let this new, efficient method prove itself to you.

You Must Fight Film

to keep teeth white or clean or safe

The most vital effect is on film.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It is ever-present, ever-forming. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

Old-time tooth pastes do not effectively combat it. The tooth brush has left much of it intact, to night and day threaten damage to the teeth.

Film is the teeth's great enemy. It causes most tooth troubles. So Pepsodent's effect on film is of premier importance.

Why your teeth discolor

Your teeth are now film-coated more or less, unless a dentist has just cleaned them.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It is film-coats that discolor, not the teeth. Film-clouded teeth don't glisten.

Film holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. It breeds millions of germs of many kinds. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So your teeth are unclean and unsafe, however well you brush them, if your brushing leaves that film.

Your dentist, perhaps, has shown you the film where you did not suspect it.

He coats the teeth with an iodine solution which brings the film out clear. Then he removes it.

The great problem has been to keep it removed. To combat it daily in the home. That is a problem which dental science has been seeking to solve for years.

Now two effective methods

In late years, two effective methods have been found. Able authorities have amply proved them. Now leading dentists, half the world over, are advising their daily use.

A new-day tooth paste has been created, complying with modern requirements. Those two film-combating methods are embodied in it.

That is the tooth paste called Pepsodent. Millions of people now employ it, largely by dental advice. Now to every home we make this offer of a ten-day test, so all may quickly realize the benefits it brings.

Children Benefit Most

Children need Pepsodent even more than adults. Young teeth seem most subject to these film attacks. Very few children reach the age of 15 without some film-caused trouble.

Dentists advise that Pepsodent be used from the time the first tooth appears.

Remember your own experience—the teeth ruined by decay. Many diseases of later life are traced to those old tooth troubles.

Pepsodent combats the enemies of teeth in new and effective ways. It also gives Nature's protective forces multiplied effect. And the great object is to reduce these troubles with the coming generation.

Every mother who makes this test will want her children to use Pepsodent.

Now Used by Millions half the world over

Some forty races now use Pepsodent. The facts about it are told in many tongues. Dentists half the world over are advising it to people.

A high British authority was among the first to discover the principles. So Pepsodent is particularly popular in England and her colonies.

In America, millions of careful people have come to employ it. And millions more will do so when they make this test.

Show Pearly Teeth when you smile

It is film that makes teeth dingy. Remove that film and the natural luster shows.

Film is the basis of tartar. And countless teeth brushed daily have film-coats and tartar on them.

Pepsodent means prettier teeth—teeth that glisten as they should, teeth you'll wish to show. Women who once find this out will always combat film.

Watch how teeth whiten in this ten-day test. Note how every use removes the new and viscous film.
